MARYLAND Philosophy

Our goal is to strive to be the best in everything we do.

In the classroom, our expectation is that each and every student-athlete will earn a degree while achieving the highest possible academic average.

On the field, we expect to become a consistent Top 20 team. Our primary goals are to win the conference championship and be in a position to contend for the national title. We will do this by mastering the art of preparation, which will enable us to perform at our optimal level.

We will apply the lessons learned through football into our daily lives. We will learn to be accountable for our actions, to rely on one another, and always do what's best for the good of the team.

We will embrace the concept of family through team bonding and working toward common goals.

We will learn to fight through adversity and to be winners in every aspect of our lives.

We will develop relationships that last a lifetime.

We will have fun playing the great game of football.

OUR HOUSE

Byrd

Attendance at Byrd Stadium has continued to break records over the last five years. In 2005, Maryland set a school record for per-game attendance when an average of 52,426 fans attended the five home games at Byrd. The Terrapins have drawn more than 50,000 fans in each of the last three seasons, the first time in school history that milestone has been achieved. In Friedgen's five seasons, a total of 1,506,721 fans have attended 31 home games, an average of 48,604. The home attendance in the last five years is more than the previous eight years combined prior to Friedgen's return to College Park.

OUR HOUSE Gossett

The Gossett Football Team House expansion project, which began with the first phase in the Spring of 2002, will improve the University of Maryland's football facility to better meet the needs of Terrapin student-athletes and recruits through the expansion of four components:

-  Expanded academic support and career development unit
-  New recruit meeting room/dining facility with kitchen
-  New team meeting auditorium
-  Expanded entrance and lobby

Phase One of the 15,500 square-foot renovation included the creation of an expanded academic support lab. This increased the existing space dedicated to support and strengthen the academic and career-achievement initiatives of football student-athletes by more than 4,000 square feet. In addition, a brand new video board was finished in time for the 2002 season, giving fans a more vibrant and exciting experience in Byrd Stadium with game action and replays shown on a board measuring 21 feet by 28 feet.

Phases Two and Three, completed in the summer of 2004, include a 3,500 square-foot meeting room and dining facility which will provide a multi-purpose showcase for hosting recruits and their families.

It also includes a new team meeting auditorium which will give the entire football team the opportunity to meet together in one room, allowing the coaching staff to teach using state-of-the-art technology in an environment that has sufficient seating space for all the players. This addition will help transform the staff's capability to effectively present offensive and defensive game plans.

The construction also includes an enhanced entrance and lobby for the Gossett Team House that will showcase the program's tradition, importance and success. A striking first impression for recruits and visitors, the entrance and lobby will highlight the rich past of Maryland football and will showcase the Terps' return to national prominence.

Shawne Merriman
*2005 NFL Defensive
Rookie of the Year*

Beginning with Maryland's first-ever NFL draft pick in 1937 and continuing in 2000 with Frank Wycheck's lateral in the "Music City Miracle," the Terrapins have fashioned an impressive tradition in the National Football League. Names like Scarbath, Jones, Nolan, White, Avellini, Esiason, Shiner, O'Donnell, Collins, Nehemiah, Lewis, Glover, Atkinson and Mike-Mayer have dotted NFL rosters over the years. In all, nearly 150 Terrapins have gone on to play professionally following their Maryland careers.

DID YOU KNOW?

Maryland has had 192 National Football League Draft choices since 1937, fourth-most among Atlantic Coast Conference schools.

Including Vernon Davis, the 6th pick overall in the 2006 Draft, there have been 14 Terrapins taken in the first round of the NFL Draft, including a pair of No. 2 overall selections in Jack Scarbath (1953) and Randy White (1975).

Butkus and Bednarik award-winning linebacker E.J. Henderson was selected early in the second round of the 2003 NFL Draft by the Minnesota Vikings. Henderson was the 40th selection overall.

Four former Terrapin quarterbacks have appeared in the Super Bowl: Boomer Esiason (1988), Frank Reich (1990-93), Neil O'Donnell (1995, 2000) and Scott Zolak (1996).

27 former Terrapins were on NFL rosters prior to the start of the 2006 training camps.

Three former Maryland head coaches (Bobby Ross, Lou Saban and Clark Shaughnessy) and four former Maryland players (Dick Modzelewski, Dick Nolan, Ron Waller, Mike Tice) have gone on to serve as head coaches in the NFL.

Former Dallas Cowboy Randy White made eight Pro Bowl appearances during his career, among the most in NFL history. White was co-MVP of Super Bowl XII and was later inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Domonique Foxworth

Maryland has had 24 players in the last three years alone drafted or signed as free agents by NFL teams.

Since 2001, 73% (8 of 11) of Maryland's starting defensive backs have gone on to sign with NFL teams...

Vernon Davis, seen here with

NFL Draft. He is the highest Terp selected since 1975 and the highest a tight end has been picked in the NFL since 1972.

Davis blew scouts away at the

and strength.

D'Qwell Jackson, seen

the second round.

Jackson is one of several past five years.

Davis was featured on the other places, leading up to the draft.

Four Terrapins were invited to the NFL Combine in Indianapolis and were limited in their work at Maryland's annual Pro Day. Despite that fact, over 50 NFL scouts and executives showed up to put the other NFL-eligible Terrapins through their paces.

QUARTERBACK Legacy

Jack Scarbath

JACK SCARBATH (1950-52) — Maryland's split T quarterback was runner-up to Billy Vessels for the Heisman Trophy and was a unanimous All-America selection in 1952. In three seasons, the Terps were 24-4-1 with Scarbath as QB, including 10-0 in 1951.

DICK SHINER (1961-63) — An honorable mention All-America selection in 1962 and a two-time first team All-ACC choice who helped lead the Terps to a 21-17 win over Penn State.

BOB AVELLINI (1972-74) — Set school marks at the time for total offense (312 yards) and passing yards (314) while completing 21 of 31 passes in a game in his first career start his sophomore year vs. Duke. Went on to have a 10-year NFL career.

BOOMER ESIASON (1981-83) — A two-time All-American who set 17 school records, led the Terps to the ACC championship in 1983 and a berth in the Tangerine Bowl. Arguably the most prolific left-handed quarterback in NFL history, Esiason was a four-time Pro Bowl selection and league MVP in '88.

FRANK REICH (1983-84) — Best known for leading the Buffalo Bills back from a 32-point deficit in the 1992 NFL playoffs against Houston, he also commanded the greatest comeback in the college game as well rallying the Terps after halftime against No. 6 Miami (Fla.) and down 31-0. Maryland pulled off the miracle upset, 42-40, and Reich finished the season as one of the top-rated passers in the country. Appeared in four Super Bowls.

STAN GELBAUGH (1984-85) — Played behind Esiason and Reich before moving into the Terps' starting lineup in '84 when Reich went down to injury. Gelbaugh stepped in to lead Maryland to four wins and a one-point loss on the road to Penn State. The following season, the Terps went on to win the ACC title and a Cherry Bowl championship.

Scott Zolak

NEIL O'DONNELL (1987-89) — A two-year starter in college, he ended his career in the No. 2 spot on most major Terp passing charts. Drafted by the Steelers in 1990, he became the team's franchise player during his six seasons, making a Pro Bowl appearance in only his second year and leading Pittsburgh to an appearance in Super Bowl XXX.

SCOTT ZOLAK (1989-90) — Despite starting just one season for the Terps, he finished his collegiate career among Terp leaders in passing yards (3,124) and completions (270). His 2,589 passing yards in 1990 ranked as the second-highest single-season total in school history and helped earn him honorable mention All-America recognition from Football News. He was taken in the fourth round of the 1991 NFL draft by the New England Patriots.

SCOTT MILANOVICH (1993-95) — Left campus as one of the most decorated Terrapin QBs ever. In fact, Milanovich still owns most Maryland passing records, including career standards for yards (7,301), TDs (49) and completions (650).

SHAUN HILL (2000-2001) — Sparked the Terrapins to the 2001 ACC championship and earned team MVP honors, throwing for 13 touchdowns and rushing for seven more. Originally picked up by the Vikings, Hill is currently with the 49ers and in his fifth NFL season.

SCOTT MCBRIEN (2002-2003) — Southpaw transfer from West Virginia who led the Terrapins to 21 wins in his two years as a starter — most by any Terp QB in two years — and was named MVP of the Peach and Gator Bowls. Currently with the Montreal Alouettes of the CFL.

FRIDGE Fever

*It caught on quickly and continues to spread...
Fridge Fever, that is.*

Perhaps never in the history of Maryland Athletics has a coach overseen a more immediate and dramatic turnaround of his team's fortunes than Ralph Friedgen, the consensus national Coach of the Year in 2001, who is second all-time in the Atlantic Coast Conference in the number of wins in the first five years of his career.

Friedgen's rookie season included an ACC title, a BCS appearance in the FedEx Orange Bowl, and a final ranking of No. 10... Maryland finished each of the next two seasons by winning 10 of its last 11 games, including dominating performances in postseason bowls (30-3 over Tennessee in the 2002 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl and 41-7 over West Virginia in the 2004 Toyota Gator Bowl).

A high-powered, exciting offense that has resulted in back-to-back scoring records... an attacking suffocating defensive style... standout special teams play — all have been hallmarks of Friedgen's Terrapin teams, as they have posted a 41-20 record the past five seasons.

Some people look at a football field and see hash marks and yard lines. Ralph Friedgen sees plays and patterns invisible to every other naked eye. And if anyone on defense does see them, they see them a step too late. More important, Ralph has the skill to teach what he sees to his players.

You always hear about great middleweights who are 'pound for pound' the best fighters in the world. That's meant as a compliment to smaller men. Ralph is not a small man, but pound for pound he's still the best offensive coach in the country.

Ivan Maisel
ESPN.com

Coach Friedgen's ability to break down film was a feature story on ESPN.com last year.

Those of us who watched Coach Friedgen for all those years as an assistant knew that if any school would finally have the good sense to hire him, he would be a dynamic head coach. His first three years at Maryland have certainly proven to be true. Everyone knew he had a brilliant offensive mind, but now Coach Friedgen has shown that he has the complete package of skills to make Maryland an annual contender for the ACC championship. Ralph Friedgen is the real deal.

Tony Barnhart,
The Atlanta Journal-Constitution

Friedgen was featured in the Sports Illustrated 2003 College Football Preview.

GOING Bowling

The University of Maryland made its third bowl trip in as many years when it was invited to play West Virginia University in the 2004 Toyota Gator Bowl. For the second straight year, the Terps saved one of their best efforts for a national TV audience and the postseason, as they beat West Virginia, 41-7.

Maryland fans continued to show their ability to travel with their Terps, as more than 15,000 fans were estimated to have made the trip to Jacksonville.

Maryland has made bowl trips in three of the past five seasons. In going to bowls in each of Ralph Friedgen's first three years, the team made three-straight bowl appearances for the fourth time in school history (1973-78 and 1982-85).

The Terps' last two postseason victories have been by a combined 71-10 score, with victories over nationally prominent schools such as Tennessee and West Virginia.

Maryland set 10 school bowl-game records in the New Year's Day victory over West Virginia in the 2004 Toyota Gator Bowl.

ACC CONFERENCE OF Champions

The Atlantic Coast Conference enjoyed its best season ever in 2005 and looks for even brighter things in 2006. Last year, the league added its 12th member, Boston College, which made an immediate impact by tying for the best record in the Atlantic Division.

ACC teams have won two of the last seven national championships, five titles since 1990 and nine national crowns overall since the 1981 season.

The ACC now features three teams who played in five of the first six BCS National Championship games.

In 2005, the ACC had a league-record eight teams earn bowl bids. Since 2001, a total of 33 ACC teams have taken part in postseason play. In 2002, the ACC set an NCAA record for the percentage of teams in a conference that reached the postseason when seven of the then-nine teams earned bids.

For the first time ever, the ACC surpassed 3.8 million in attendance. The 12 league teams drew 3,835,260. Ten of the 12 ACC schools, including Maryland, drew 85 percent or better in percentage of capacity.

The ACC remains the all-time winniest conference in bowl play among conferences with 75 or more appearances. The ACC is 21-12 in postseason play over the last five years and has the best bowl winning percentage (.636) among all I-A leagues during that span.

With 10 of its 12 teams listed in the top 45, the ACC was the second-ranked conference in the nation in the final Sagarin Computer poll.

NO BETTER Place To Be

Terp Athletics Sixth in Comprehensive Ranking

The University of Maryland athletics department was ranked sixth in the nation in 2004 in a comprehensive rating system that determines the new Excellence in Athletics Cup, an award developed by the Laboratory for the Study of Intercollegiate Athletics at Texas A&M University.

The national award recognizes key areas including graduation rates, financial efficiency, equity effectiveness and competitive excellence.

There is no better place to be than the University of Maryland, College Park. With its top-ranked academic programs, nationally recognized faculty, diverse population, and lush 1,580-acre campus located between Washington, D.C., and Baltimore, Md., it's no wonder the University of Maryland is a sought-after destination for some of the state's — and the country's — best and brightest students.

Attracting them are some 111 majors and some of the highest-ranked programs in the country. As of 2005, 70 programs rank in the Top 25 nationally and 45 programs are in the Top 15. For instance, in the latest U.S. News & World Report undergraduate rankings, the University of Maryland's business school was ranked 22nd nationally, while the engineering school was also ranked 22nd. In graduate school rankings, the A. James Clark School of Engineering, the School of Public Affairs, the College of Behavioral & Social Sciences, the Robert H. Smith School of Business and the College of Education all had specialties listed among the Top 25 in the nation, according to U.S. News & World Report.

High-tech, engineering, and service industries thrive in close proximity to the campus, offering a wide spectrum of internships, work-study opportunities and career choices for students. And, the campus is surrounded by the dynamic cultural opportunities that only a major metropolitan area can provide.

Whether your focus is the sciences or the humanities, a small-town atmosphere or a metropolitan feel, the University of Maryland offers a wide range of educational and cultural opportunities.

There truly is no better place to be than the University of Maryland, College Park.

SO MUCH SO CLOSE

City lights, history, sparkling waterfronts, monumental landscapes. Jazz, film festivals, marches and demonstrations. Shopping, professional sports, regattas on the Chesapeake Bay. Not just one city, but three. Not just any city, but the nation's capital, a major port city, and the state capital of Maryland.

WASHINGTON, D.C.

ANNAPOLIS B

WASHINGTON, D.C.

The nation's capital and its major attractions are within 10 miles of Byrd Stadium. And the highly efficient Metro rail system, with a station at the campus doorstep, makes navigating the greater Washington, D.C., area easy. Campus shuttle buses serve the College Park Metro station, allowing easy access to one of the country's model transportation systems.

BALTIMORE

The 12th-largest city in the United States is often referred to as the "Charm City." Located just 35 miles north of the University of Maryland, its rejuvenation as an urban center is unprecedented. The Inner Harbor, its National Aquarium and tall ships, and the nearby Oriole Park at Camden Yards create an exciting, vibrant holiday atmosphere in a city that boasts one of the world's great sea ports.

ANNAPOLIS

The state capital of Maryland lies just 30 miles east of the University of Maryland. Long called the "sailing capital of the United States," Annapolis is located at the mouth of the Severn River on the Chesapeake Bay. The historic downtown area is known for its wonderful eating and shopping opportunities. There are few places in the world that rival the Chesapeake Bay area for its appealing qualities.

FROM WALK-ON TO Front & Center

Important to any college program are walk-on players, who not only make a difference in aiding a team's depth and continuity, but can also earn their own scholarship and bid for significant playing time.

Take the case of Chad Scott. After playing two seasons at Towson in 1993 and 1994, Scott chose to walk on at Maryland, uninvited. By the end of his first semester on campus, Scott was awarded a scholarship and became a Terrapin co-captain for his senior year in 1996. The rest is history. Scott was a first-round draft choice of the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1997 and is now a member of the World Champion New England Patriots.

Scott exemplifies the ultimate walk-on scenario. However, every season at Maryland, there are walk-on players who find their niche and contribute greatly to the Terrapins' program. With recent scholarship reductions, walk-on players have become a vital component to the rebuilding of Maryland football fortunes.

Another example is receiver Jermaine Arrington, who walked on and was the Terps' leading receiver in 1998, moving on to sign a free-agent contract with the San Francisco 49ers.

The latest Maryland player to go from walk-on to standout is former safety Madiou Williams, a transfer from Towson who became the first Terrapin picked in the 2003 NFL Draft, going in the second round to the Cincinnati Bengals. Williams was one of the top defensive rookies in the NFL in 2004, finishing with 103 tackles, three interceptions and two sacks as a starting cornerback.

Dan Ennis

Linebacker David Holloway and kicker Dan Ennis were each walk-ons when they started at Maryland. Both now on scholarship, Holloway has started the last two seasons and racked up 116 tackles while Ennis enters 2006 as the team's starting placekicker after holding the duties in 2005.

HEAD COACH

RALPH FRIEDGEN

MARYLAND '70 • SIXTH YEAR AT MARYLAND

Ralph Friedgen, the second-winningest fifth-year head coach in Atlantic Coast Conference history, enters his sixth year at the University of Maryland with a reputation as one of the top minds in college football. This season, Friedgen will also assume the duties of the team's offensive coordinator, marking the first time he will call the offensive plays in his tenure at Maryland.

A long-time successful assistant coach at Georgia Tech, where he was credited with overseeing one of the nation's most potent offensive attacks, Friedgen continues to build a new level of pride and glory to his alma mater's football program, guiding the Terps to a 41-20 record and a trio of major bowl appearances – including two decisive wins – in his five seasons as a collegiate head coach.

Not only do his 41 wins match the mark of Terp legend Jerry Claiborne in his first five years. They also fall just shy of the all-time ACC mark of 44, set by Clemson's Danny Ford in the early '80s. In addition, in his first three seasons at the helm of the Terrapin program, Friedgen became the first coach in conference lore to lead a team to three-straight seasons of 10 wins or more while his 36 wins in his first four years ranked him in the top 10 in NCAA history, surpassing the fourth year marks of coaches such as Frank Leahy and Joe Paterno.

The consensus national Coach of the Year in 2001 after leading Maryland to its first ACC championship since 1985, Friedgen and Company have returned Maryland to prominence on the national scene. The Terrapins have won more games (41) in the five seasons under Friedgen than they had in the 10 seasons prior to his arrival (37).

Long overlooked as a head-coaching candidate, the 1970 Maryland graduate was tapped as the Terps' head football coach following the 2000 season, and he wasted no time in returning the program to the glory days it achieved when Friedgen was an assistant to Bobby Ross in the 1980s.

Five years ago, in his first season as the Terps' grid boss, Maryland won its first seven games and eventually halted Florida State's reign as perennial ACC champion, earning the league's automatic berth in the Bowl Championship Series' FedEx Orange Bowl. In 2002, despite a 1-2 start and without 19 seniors from the previous year, the Terps made their way back to a major bowl game, winning 10 of their last 11 games and finishing in a tie for second in the ACC. The 2003 campaign provided a bit of déjà vu for Friedgen and the Terrapins as they again started 1-2, and again ran off 10 wins in their final 11 games to earn a second New Year's bowl bid in three years.

Friedgen's Terps have gone to bowl games in three of five seasons, participating in the BCS Orange Bowl his first year before posting lopsided victories over Tennessee

His offensive success notwithstanding, Friedgen's teams at Maryland have been superb on defense, ranking among the nation's leaders annually while producing the ACC's Defensive Player of the Year in three of the last five seasons (E.J. Henderson in 2001 and 2002; D'Qwell Jackson in 2005).

Named the winner of the Frank Broyles Award as the top assistant coach in the country in 1999 while at Tech, Friedgen brought 32 years of assistant coaching experience (including 21 as an offensive coordinator either in college or the NFL) with him in his return to College Park.

The 59-year-old Friedgen (pronounced FREE-jun) owns the rare distinction of coordinating the offense for both a collegiate national champion (Georgia Tech in 1990) and a Super Bowl team (San Diego in 1994).

Friedgen spent 20 seasons with the aforementioned Ross in coaching stops at The Citadel, Maryland, Georgia Tech and the NFL's San Diego Chargers. He returned to

On Friedgen...

"Some people look at a football field and see hash marks and yard lines. Ralph Friedgen sees plays and patterns invisible to every other naked eye. And if anyone on defense does see them, they see them a step too late. More important, Ralph has the skill to teach what he sees to his players."

"You always hear about great middleweights who are "pound for pound" the best fighters in the world. That's meant as a compliment to smaller men. Ralph is not a small man, but pound for pound he's still the best offensive coach in the country."

tech in 1997, where he served another successful stint as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach under good friend George O'Leary.

A 1970 graduate of Maryland, where he earned a degree in physical education, Friedgen launched his coaching career as a graduate assistant before heading off to a series of jobs that included The Citadel (1973-79), William & Mary (1980) and Murray State (1981). In '82, he returned to Maryland as offensive coordinator and offensive line coach under Ross, with Friedgen's tenure lasting until 1986. During that stretch, the Terps captured three consecutive ACC championships (1983-85) and played in four bowl games. All told, the Terrapins were 39-15-1 from 1982-86 and won two bowl games (the Sun Bowl in 1984 and the Cherry Bowl in 1985). It is the type of success Friedgen has re-instilled in his current group of Terrapins.

The Ross-Friedgen connection began in 1973, when Ross hired the former Maryland offensive guard as defensive line coach at The Citadel. Friedgen spent seven seasons at The Citadel, the last three as offensive coordinator and offensive line coach. He then worked one season (1980) as offensive coordinator at William & Mary and one season (1981) as assistant head coach at Murray State before Ross tapped him to be his offensive coordinator at Maryland in 1982.

During his five-year stay at Maryland under Ross, Friedgen was instrumental in the development of future pro quarterbacks Boomer Esiason, Frank Reich and Stan Gelbaugh, all of whom spent at least 10 seasons in the National Football League. Esiason played professionally from 1984-97, Reich from 1985-98 and Gelbaugh from 1986-95.

Friedgen followed Ross to Georgia Tech in 1987, becoming the Yellow Jackets' offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach for the next five seasons, including the 1990 campaign when Tech, unranked in the preseason, captured the national championship with an 11-0-1 record. The national title came just two years after the Jackets had posted back-to-back seasons of three wins or less.

When Ross was named head coach of the San Diego Chargers in 1992, he tapped Friedgen to serve as running game coordinator for two seasons (1992-93) before elevating him to offensive coordinator in 1994, when the Chargers advanced to the Super Bowl for the first time in franchise history. During his time with the Chargers, Friedgen helped a club that had not made the playoffs in a decade reach postseason play three times in five seasons.

On Friedgen...

"The thing that is most impressive to me about Ralph Friedgen is that he adapts to personnel changes and the shifts that you see in the course of a game unlike many coaches you will find in the college game. He is a coach that gives you a secure feeling that — no matter how many players leave the program through graduation or through the NFL — this is a team that will never feel like it is rebuilding. That it will always be on a steady flow upward.

"I think great leaders have a certain aura that you can't pinpoint and he is a tremendous leader because he gives such a secure, confident feeling to the fans and anybody associated with the program that a solid job is going to be done and that Maryland is going to be in contention, year-in and year-out."

On Friedgen...

"Those of us who watched Coach Friedgen for all those years as an assistant knew that if any school would finally have the good sense to hire him, he would be a dynamite head coach. His first three years at Maryland have certainly proven that to be true.

"Everyone knew he had a brilliant offensive mind, but now Coach Friedgen has shown that he has the complete package of skills to make Maryland an annual contender for the ACC championship. Ralph Friedgen is the real deal."

-Tony Barnhart, The Atlanta Journal-Constitution

Known for developing balanced offensive attacks with multiple looks, Tech was one of only two teams in the country in 1999 to average at least 200 yards rushing and 200 yards passing. Tech also accomplished the feat under Friedgen's guidance in 1990, '91 and '98. The 1999 team, with the diminutive Joe Hamilton at quarterback, set 59 school records, rewriting many marks established by the 1990 national championship team, which was led by another Friedgen pupil, Shawn Jones (1989-92). Friedgen was a finalist for the Broyles Award as the nation's top assistant coach in 1998 when the Rambling Wreck set a then-school record with 50 touchdowns.

The first Maryland alum since Bob Ward (1967-68) to serve as the Terps' head football coach, Friedgen originally came to Maryland as a quarterback in the mid-'60s and spent most of his career as an offensive lineman, lettering in 1966 and '68 and capturing Academic All-ACC honors. He was a two-time winner of the George C. Cook Memorial Award (1968-69) for having the highest academic average on the football team.

Friedgen's coaching roots run deep. His father, also named Ralph (though not a "Sr."), was a high school coach for more than 30 years and masterminded, among other teams, the 1964 Westchester County (N.Y.) High School team that went undefeated and averaged 44 points per game running what was then an unusual multiple offense. It was an offense run by a 190-pound quarterback later recruited by Maryland who shared his name. Maybe as a sign of things to come, the younger Ralph called all of his team's offensive plays from his junior year on.

Friedgen and his wife, the former Gloria Spina, have three daughters: Kelley, Kristina and Katie. Gloria is currently the Coordinator of Alumni Affairs and Outreach for the College of Health and Human Performance at Maryland while both she and Coach Friedgen serve on that college's Board of Visitors. Kelley is in her second year as an associate at Arnold and Porter in D.C., specializing in pharmaceutical and medical device law; Kristina is in her third year in the theater program at Maryland; and Katie will be attending her first year of college at Maryland, majoring in art in the fall of 2006.

On Friedgen...

"I grew up watching Maryland football, first with Jerry Claiborne and then with Bobby Ross, and what Ralph Friedgen has done in three years is restore all of the luster to the program that those guys built. The tradition that they established, he took years of dust off of it and shined it probably brighter than when those great coaches were here.

"I think that what is most exciting for all of us who are Terrapin fans is to see where it is that he takes the program from here. Because when he gets all of his guys in there - look out. There is no reason to believe that Ralph can't take Terrapin football to heights it has never seen before."

- Scott Van Pelt, ESPN anchor and Maryland grad

TERP HIGHLIGHTS UNDER FRIEDGEN

- A 41-20 record in his first five years, including the first back-to-back-to-back 10-win seasons in university history (10-2 in 2001, 11-3 in 2002 and 10-3 in 2003).
- A school record-tying 11-victory season in 2002, when the Terps won 10 of their last 11 games. Only the 1976 team won as many games.
- Maryland was joined by only four other Division I-A schools - Miami (Fla.), Oklahoma, Texas and Washington State - to have won as many as 10 games in the 2001, 2002 and 2003 seasons.
- A top 20 final national ranking in both major national polls for three straight years (2001-03). Maryland ended 2003 ranked 17th in the ESPN/USA Today Coaches' poll and 20th by the Associated Press A year ago, the Terps were ranked 13th in both polls and in 2001 the team finished 10th in the ESPN/USA Today poll and 11th in the AP standings. It was the program's best three-year ranking finish since 1974-76 (when the Terps finished 13th, 13th and eighth).
- Friedgen is the second-most successful fifth-year coach in ACC history, with his 41-20 mark eclipsing those of such former league mentors as Bobby Ross and Lou Holtz. Friedgen is currently 18th among all active coaches for Division I-A victories.
- Bowl appearances in his first three seasons, including dominating wins in the 2004 Toyota Gator Bowl (41-7) and a 2002 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl victory over perennial national power Tennessee (a team ranked fifth in the two major preseason polls). The Terrapins also earned a BCS Orange Bowl berth during the 2001 campaign.
- A 25-15 (.625) Atlantic Coast Conference record, including a 7-1 mark in 2001 when the Terps became the first team other than Florida State to win an outright ACC title since the Seminoles joined the league, and a 6-2 mark and runner-up finish in 2002.
- Twenty-four wins in 31 games at Byrd Stadium, where the Terps averaged a school-record 52,426 fans in 2005.
- The program's first major national award winner since '74 in linebacker E. J. Henderson, a two-time consensus first team All-American who was named the winner of the Dick Butkus Award (nation's outstanding linebacker) and the Chuck Bednarik Trophy (nation's outstanding defensive player) in 2002.
- Back-to-back school records in number of first team All-ACC performers in 2001 (7) and 2002 (8) and an ACC-best 13 overall all-conference honors.

- Three-straight seasons of over 31,000 season tickets sold (2004-present).
- Back-to-back school scoring records (2001 and 2002) and a two-year team scoring average of more than 33 points per game in those seasons.
- A NCAA-low four passing touchdowns allowed in 2002. The defense also had four-straight seasons (2001-2004) where it is allowed 20 points or less a contest.
- Seventeen Terps earning All-American recognition, including two first teamers (Vernon Davis and D'Qwell Jackson) in 2005.
- Three of the last five ACC Defensive Players of the Year.
- Twenty-seven national TV appearances, including a school-record eight showings in 2002. (The Terrapins played on national television or ABC Regional a total of six times in 2005).

DEF. COORDINATOR/INSIDE LINEBACKERS

CHRIS COSH

VIRGINIA TECH '83 • SECOND YEAR AT MARYLAND

Chris Cosh enters his first year as defensive coordinator and inside linebackers coach at Maryland. The 2006 season will be his 25th as a full-time coach at the collegiate level and the second of his career in College Park.

Cosh comes to College Park after spending the last two seasons as a linebackers coach at Kansas State. The Wildcats defense ranked 32nd nationally in 2005 allowing an average of 128.9 yards per game in one of the nation's toughest-running conferences. Junior linebacker Brandon Archer was an honorable mention All-Big 12 selection, an honor which came a year after Cosh helped coach the newcomer to second team honors in his first year as a starter.

In the four years prior to his trek to Manhattan, Kan., Cosh served under Lou Holtz as linebackers coach (1999-2002) and defensive coordinator (2003) at South Carolina. In his tenure, he helped produce some of the Southeastern Conference's top linebackers, Kalimba Edwards (two-time first team All-SEC, Butkus and Lombardi Awards finalist in 2001) among them. His success as a position coach also included ultimate New York Jets first round pick and Pro Bowler John Abraham (1999) and freshman All-American Lance Laury (2002).

In addition to serving under coaching legends Snyder and Holtz (who he also worked under as a graduate assistant at Virginia Tech), Cosh was the defensive coordinator at Michigan State under current Miami Dolphins head coach Nick Saban. In that 1998 season, the Spartans upset No. 1 Ohio State and knocked off Notre Dame. Cosh's unit helped spark those wins with the 10th-ranked pass defense in the nation.

Cosh's current stint at Maryland is his second, as he coached the Terp linebackers in 1997 while also heading up the team's recruiting efforts. In that lone year at Maryland, linebackers Eric Barton and Kendal Ogle finished second and third, respectively, in the ACC in tackles. The greatest testament to his skill as a coach of linebackers may have come in his previous job at Illinois (1992-96) when he coached Dana Howard (1994) and Kevin Hardy (1995) to consecutive Butkus Awards while also coaching DE Simeon Rice while a defensive coordinator to consensus All-America honors.

A former linebacker who earned his bachelor's degree in physical education from Virginia Tech in 1983, Cosh also got his start in coaching in Blacksburg. He then made five different stops (Wisconsin-Oshkosh, Southeast Missouri State, UNLV and two at Minnesota) before settling in at Illinois with all but one full-time job working either as defensive coordinator or linebackers coach.

Born May 12, 1959, Cosh and his wife, Mary, have two sons, James Joseph and Billy. Cosh is a native of Washington, D.C., and graduated from Bishop McNamee High School in Forestville, Md.

SECONDARY

TIM BANKS

CENTRAL MICHIGAN '95 • FOURTH YEAR AT MARYLAND

Tim Banks enters his fourth season at the University of Maryland, assuming the role of secondary coach after serving his first three seasons as the Terrapins' inside linebackers coach. Banks came to College Park from the University of Memphis.

In his first three seasons with the Terps, Banks helped coach a linebacking unit that was one of the keys to defense that has been consistently among the national leaders since 2001. Under his tutelage, D'Qwell Jackson earned first team All-ACC honors in 2004 and 2005 while being named the league's Defensive Player of the Year as a senior. A Bednark Award finalist in 2005, Jackson led the ACC as a junior and senior and finished second in the ICAA in tackles as a senior with 137. The Terp defense ranked 21st nationally in 2004 and 15th in 2003 while boasting the nation's sixth-best scoring defense (15.6 ppg) in that inaugural season for Banks.

Banks joined the Memphis staff when former Clemson head coach Tommy West took the reins of the Tiger program in '01. He oversaw outside linebackers in his first season in Memphis before taking over as cornerbacks coach for the 2002 campaign. In his first season coaching cornerbacks, the Tigers finished ninth in Division I-A in pass defense, allowing an average of just 165.8 yards per game.

Now entering his 11th year of coaching at the collegiate level, Banks is another Terrapin coach with ties to recently-retired defensive coordinator Gary Blackney. Prior to his being hired at Memphis, Banks served as defensive backs coach at Bowling Green State under Blackney where he coached defensive backs. In Banks' first season coaching the secondary at Bowling Green, the Falcons posted immediate results, tripling their interception total from the previous year.

In addition to coaching under Blackney, Banks also served alongside current Terp assistant Al Seamonson, who was the Falcons' linebackers coach in 2000. All told, Banks spent two years as a full-time coach at BGSU -- both during the Blackney regime -- serving one (1999) as a running backs coach and the other (2000) in charge of the defensive backs.

Tim and Robin Banks

Bowling Green was also the site of the start of Banks' coaching career as he was the school's graduate assistant for the 1996 season after completing his collegiate playing career. After serving that season working with the Falcons' defense, he was hired to his first full-time post, coaching defensive backs at Ferris State University in Big Rapids, Mich. In his two seasons, he worked as the Bulldogs' defensive backs coach while also having a hand in the passing game and special teams.

A four-year letterwinner at cornerback for Central Michigan, Banks graduated in 1995 with a bachelor of science degree in industrial management. In his time with the Chippewas, Banks earned All-MAC honors as a junior and a senior while also being named his team's most valuable defensive back in those seasons. A co-captain his senior year, Banks finished his career with over 200 tackles and a pair of interceptions.

Born December 16, 1971, Banks is a native of Detroit, Mich. He and his wife, Robin, were married in 1994.

WIDE RECEIVERS

BRYAN BOSSARD

DELAWARE '89 • SECOND YEAR AT MARYLAND

Bryan Bossard is in his second year as wide receivers coach at Maryland after joining the staff in March, 2005.

In his first season in College Park, Bossard's troops had the strongest campaign of any in Ralph Friedgen's first five years. In fact, it had not been since the pass-happy days of 1993 that the Terrapins had three wide receivers with 34 or more receptions, a feat accomplished by the 2005 group of senior receivers (Melendez (40), Walker (35) and Fenner (34)). This on the heels of a unit whose leader posted just 23 catches the year before.

Bossard came to the Terps after a three-year stint at nearby Delaware where his most recent stint with the Blue Hens – his second – was a productive one. In his first season back in Newark, Delaware succeeded offensively despite the team having four different freshmen starters at wide receiver and a first-year quarterback. Most importantly, his efforts in '03 helped lead the Blue Hens to a 15-1 record and the Division I-AA national championship. For the first time in school history, three different UD receivers caught 50 passes or more.

In 2004, Bossard helped coach receiver David Boler to a top 30 national ranking in I-AA in both receptions per game (21st, 5.91) and receiving yards per game (29th, 82.1).

Prior to heading back to Delaware, Bossard served as a defensive backs coach at the University of Wyoming from 2000-01. He took that post in Laramie after one year at Army, his first coaching job at the I-A level (wide receivers).

Bossard's longest consecutive stint at any school was his in first post at Delaware where he was receivers coach from 1994-98. The highlight of his first stint included playoff appearances in 1995, 1996 and 1997, each of which featured 12-2 records and national semifinal berths.

Now in his 15th year overall as a full-time coach, Bossard's first collegiate coaching post was as a graduate assistant at Delaware (1990), followed by jobs with Morehouse College (1991), West Chester University (1992) and Bucknell (1992-93). Every job he has had has either involved coaching receivers or coaching the players trying to stop them (defensive backs).

Prior to beginning his career as a college coach, Bossard served one year as an assistant coach at Glasgow High School in Newark, Del., helping lead his team to the state title in his only season.

In addition to his coaching at the collegiate level, Bossard also served summer coaching internships with the National Football League's Chicago Bears in 1996 and '97.

A native of and all-state prep performer from Dover, Del., Bossard was a standout defensive back at UD from 1985-88, helping the Blue Hens advance to the I-AA playoffs in both his sophomore and senior seasons. A three-year letterwinner, he earned second team All-Yankee Conference honors as a senior and was selected as the team's Outstanding Senior Defensive Player (Blue Hen Touchdown Club). He posted 122 tackles that season including the fourth-highest total in school history (22 vs Navy).

Bossard graduated from Delaware in 1989 with a bachelor's degree in agricultural business management. He and his wife, Kimber, have a three-year old son, Xen.

OFFENSIVE LINE

TOM BRATTAN

DELAWARE '72 • SIXTH YEAR AT MARYLAND

Tom Brattan is in his sixth season as the Terps' offensive line coach. He boasts 34 years of coaching experience, including 24 at the collegiate level.

The Maryland offensive line has been one of the strengths under Brattan since 2001, producing six first team All-ACC performers and a handful of other players honored by both the conference and national media. In 2006, the Terps will return four starters to an offensive line with arguably more depth and talent than any the team has produced in Brattan's tenure.

In that five-year span, Brattan's accomplishments have been noteworthy to say the least. In 2005, he mentored a first-year player in Jared Gaither to third team All-American honors and helped a young line to a season that helped Lance Ball to second team All-ACC recognition at tailback, all despite losing its top player (OT Stephon Heyer) prior to the season. The season was reminiscent of the 2003 campaign when an injury-plagued unit still produced the nation's 24th-best rushing offense, allowed just 20 sacks and had a first team All-ACC performer in C.J. Brooks.

In previous seasons, the Terp line has had similar success.

In 2002, Brattan had four of five linemen earn All-ACC recognition while the team had the ACC's second-rated rushing attack (198.8 ypg) and scoring offense (32.2 ppg) while allowing a paltry 21 sacks in 14 games. In his first year of 2001, the Terps averaged 35.5 points per game, allowed just 18 sacks and paved the way for a 1,242-yard season from Doak Walker finalist Bruce Perry. In doing so, Melvin Fowler earned All-ACC recognition en route to being drafted by the Browns in the third round and Todd Wike also earned a first team all-league nod.

Prior to coming to Maryland, Brattan spent two years at Stanford University, where he served as the Cardinal's line coach in charge of centers and guards. Of the two years Brattan spent with the Cardinal, 1999 was the brightest. Stanford went 8-4 that season and had wins over Arizona, UCLA, Oregon State and Notre Dame on the way to a Rose Bowl bid. The '99 Stanford offense scored at least 31 points in all but three games and hit the 50-point plateau three times. That year, Brattan's offensive line allowed just 15 sacks despite 385 passing attempts (an average of one sack for every 27 attempts).

Brattan took his first job at the collegiate level at William & Mary in 1983 as an offensive backfield coach. After just one season, he was promoted to offensive coordinator and served the remainder of his tenure (1984-91) in that capacity. He also worked with the offensive line at William & Mary. In that time, the Tribe advanced to the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs on three occasions. From 1986 to 1990, William & Mary earned national rankings in three seasons (No. 9 in 1986; No. 13 in 1989; No. 7 in 1990). The success was largely a product of Brattan's offensive design as his unit ranked in the top 20 in offense in 1985 and '86, while it had the top-rated attack in Division I-AA for the 1990 season and the sixth-best in '91.

Brattan took his success at the I-AA level to his next job, Northwestern, where he resided from 1992-98 as offensive line coach. In Brattan's first three years at the school, the Wildcats continued their struggle to regain their winning ways, pushing their streak of seasons without a winning mark to 23.

Then in 1995, the Wildcats were in the national spotlight as they came seemingly out of nowhere to win the Big Ten championship for the first time in 47 years and advance to the Rose Bowl where they ultimately fell to Southern California. They finished that season — despite the Rose Bowl loss — ranked seventh in the nation with a 10-2 record. Brattan's offensive line allowed just eight sacks all year while helping propel Darnell Autry to a new school rushing record. Northwestern finished fifth nationally that season in rushing.

The Wildcats went on to post a combined 15-1 conference record in 1995 and 1996, taking the Big Ten crown both years after having won just five league games in the previous three years. In '96, they earned a bid to play Tennessee in the Citrus Bowl.

Brattan got his start in coaching as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, Delaware, in 1972. After one year in Newark, he took his first full-time coaching post at Highland Springs (Va.) High School as an offensive line coach. After three years (1973-75) at Highland Springs, he moved back to his home state and took his first head coaching job at McKean High School in 1977. He spent one year at McKean — the same high school that helped produce Maryland legend Randy White — before moving back to Virginia and taking over as the head coach at Lloyd C. Bird High School. After serving at Bird in 1978, he returned to Highland Springs — this time as a head coach — for his final four years (1979-82) at the prep level.

A native of Newark, Del., Brattan is a 1972 graduate of his hometown school where he earned his bachelor's degree in history and later earned his master's degree in education in 1977. He was a member of the Blue Hen football team and earned a varsity letter in 1971. He and his wife, Anne, have three children — Kristen, Kate and Megan, a current Maryland student.

QUARTERBACKS

JOHN DONOVAN

JOHNS HOPKINS '97 • SIXTH YEAR AT MARYLAND

John Donovan is in his sixth season at Maryland and his first as quarterbacks coach. Donovan spent his first four years with the Terps as assistant recruiting coordinator, last year mentoring the running backs and was named quarterbacks coach in June of 2006.

Donovan's first year as a full time assistant at the Division I-A level was a strong one. His unit came into 2005 as a question mark with no returning starter and without the services of Josh Allen. In the end, Donovan got strong performances from Mario Merrills and Keon Lattimore and ultimately found a viable starter in Lance Ball. Ball ended up rushing for over 100 yards in four of the team's final seven games, earning second team All-ACC honors along the way.

Prior to taking over as running backs coach, Donovan's position in the recruiting department included maintaining and organizing the Terrapins' recruiting database, setting up all recruiting events (official and unofficial visits, game day visits, recruiting weekends, etc.) and serving as director of all football camps held by the University of Maryland. In addition, he oversaw the group of graduate assistants employed by the team from 2001-2004.

Donovan's current post is his first full-time coaching position at the Division I-A level, but that is not to say that he lacks experience in the coaching ranks. Prior to coming to College Park, he served as an offensive graduate assistant at Georgia Tech for three years, working directly with then-offensive coordinator Ralph Friedgen. In that time, he broke down all opponent game film, assisted with coaching quarterbacks (1998) and the offensive line (1999-2000) while helping Friedgen with game planning and practice preparation. During his tenure, Tech won an ACC Championship (1998) and had the nation's leading offense (1999), averaging over 200 yards passing and rushing while setting 59 school records in the process.

Notably, Donovan's first job as a position coach at the Division I-A level -- though temporary -- came when Friedgen departed at the end of the 2000 season to become the Terrapins' head coach. Bill O'Brien was elevated to serve as the team's offensive coordinator for the 2000 Peach Bowl in Friedgen's absence and Donovan was called upon to serve as the Yellow Jackets' running backs coach for the game.

His responsibilities with the Wildcats included coaching the team's safeties, coordinating scout teams for the offense and special teams and breaking down game film for the defense.

A 1997 graduate of Johns Hopkins, Donovan was a three-year starter for the Blue Jays' football team. He was twice named an all-conference defensive back and recorded 12 career interceptions. While in school, he worked as a training camp intern for the Carolina Panthers, assisting general manager Bill Polian with the team's internal operations. He later went on to earn his master's degree in economics from Georgia Tech.

MILLERSVILLE '79 • SIXTH YEAR AT MARYLAND

Ray Rychleski is in his sixth year as Maryland's special teams coordinator and tight ends/H-backs coach. He is in his 27th year of coaching overall, and his 25th at the collegiate level.

The last two seasons were special ones for Rychleski as a tight ends coach. He helped harness the extreme physical talents of Vernon Davis, resulting in Davis being the team's leading receiver in 2004 and the ACC's leading receiver in 2005. Davis went on to become the first tight end in school history named first team All-American by the Associated Press and was ultimately the sixth overall pick of the NFL Draft by the San Francisco 49ers, highest by a Terrapin since Randy White in 1975.

On special teams in 2005, Rychleski helped produce a kicker in Dan Ennis -- who had never played football prior to college -- and got the team a respectable season from him including 11-straight field goals to start the year. Punter Adam Podlesh was again solid, earning second team All-ACC honors for the third consecutive season and finishing 13th nationally in punting average (43.6). The year previous, Nick Novak became the Atlantic Coast Conference's all-time leading scorer with 393 points (tied for fifth in NCAA history) while return man Steve Suter set the all-time ACC record for punt return yards as he finished his career with 1,271.

In 2003, Rychleski's tight ends and special teamers both made headway. Jeff Dugan continued to impress as one of the top blocking tight ends in the country while Novak had his second consecutive 100-point season, earning first team All-ACC honors and being named a Lou Groza semifinalist. Podlesh -- the first Terp freshman ever to be honored by the league -- was a Ray Guy semifinalist with his 42.3-yard average and Suter -- though hobbled -- returned two punts for touchdowns, repeating as a first team all-conference pick.

In '02, Rychleski saw Dugan earned honorable mention All-ACC status, while the special teams had three first team All-ACC performers. Novak finished his sophomore season ranked fifth in the NCAA in field goals and 16th in scoring, and Brooks Barnard led the ACC in punting and finished 12th nationally with a 43.1-yard average. But while the Terrapin return game was nearly an afterthought the year before, Suter blossomed under Rychleski's guidance into one of the top return men in the country. Suter finished 2002 with an ACC-record 771 punt return yards while finishing second in the conference in kick return average and tying an NCAA record with four punt returns for a touchdown.

In 2001, Matt Murphy went from a player in search of a position to a tight end displaying enough skills to be selected by the Detroit Lions in the 2002 NFL Draft. Highlights from Rychleski's special teams units included the fourth-best net punting average in the nation, first team All-ACC recognition for Barnard, and Novak earning honorable mention all-conference status in just his first year.

Prior to coming to College Park, Rychleski served for eight years at Wake Forest University where his tenure could best be described as diverse. For the 1999 and 2000 seasons, Rychleski was the Demon Deacons' tight ends coach while also serving as the team's special teams coach. For the three years prior to becoming tight ends coach and special teams coach (1996-98), he worked with WFU's outside linebackers. During his first three seasons at Wake (1993-95), Rychleski coached the defensive line.

Rychleski began his coaching career on the prep level in Pennsylvania in 1979 before heading to Temple University, where he took a position as a graduate assistant. After a short time as the Owls' graduate assistant, he was promoted into his first full-time collegiate coaching post. He spent eight years at Temple (1981-88) before heading to Northeastern (1989-90) as a defensive coordinator/inside linebackers coach. After two years at Northeastern, Rychleski spent a year at Penn State (1991, graduate assistant) and one summer with the Toronto Argonauts (1992, defense) as a volunteer assistant.

In 1992, Rychleski was hired as a special teams coordinator and defensive backs coach at East Stroudsburg University where he helped the Warriors to their best record in 13 years. After his brief stint there, he left for Wake Forest in 1993.

A native of Old Forge, Pa., Rychleski earned his degree in social studies from Millersville (Pa.) State College (now known as Millersville University) in 1979.

OUTSIDE LINEBACKERS/SPECIAL TEAMS ASST.

AL SEAMONSON

WISCONSIN '82 • SIXTH YEAR AT MARYLAND

Al Seamonson is in his sixth season as outside linebackers coach for the Terrapins. He also assists Ray Rychleski in working with special teams.

In five years in College Park, Seamonson has quickly gained the respect of pundits and peers as an outstanding, organized defensive football coach.

Last season, Seamonson helped David Holloway to another productive year (61 tackles, 4.5 TFLs, 3.0 sacks) from his "Sam" spot while working to replace one of the defense's top players of the year in Shawne Merriman. Merriman was a first team All-ACC pick in '04 and ended up second in the ACC in sacks and tackles for loss en route to being the 12th overall pick of the 2005 NFL Draft and the eventual NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year. In addition, Holloway — a former walk-on — was one of the pleasant surprises of the season as he finished fifth on the team in tackles and tied for the team lead in fumble recoveries in his first year as a starter.

In 2003, Seamonson helped lead a defense that was again one of the top units in the nation in scoring (sixth) and total defense (15th). Merriman finished the season with the second-most sacks in the ACC. In '02, he helped coach a Terp defense that ranked first in the ACC and seventh nationally in scoring, allowing just 16.3 points per game. In addition, the Maryland rushing and passing defense each ranked in the top three in the league while the team was second in the conference in sacks (37) and red-zone defense. Seamonson's outside linebackers were a source of both steady improvement and big plays while Merriman was named to The Sporting News' ACC All-Rookie team. All of this came on the heels of a team that had the nation's fourth-best turnover margin (+1.45 average) and the ACC's lowest scoring defense (19.1 points per game) in his first season on the job in 2001.

Seamonson boasts 23 years of collegiate coaching experience. Prior to coming to Maryland, he spent the 2000 season at Bowling Green State University — where he worked under former Terp defensive coordinator Gary Blackney — as the Falcons' special teams coordinator and linebackers coach. In his lone year at Bowling Green, Seamonson helped the Falcons produce a defensive unit that ranked fourth in the MAC in rushing defense and total defense.

Seamonson's coaching tenure prior to BGSU was weighted heavily in military settings. From 1987-99, he coached at The Citadel, where he started as a wide receivers coach (1987) before serving the remainder of his tenure (1988-99) as special teams coordinator and linebackers coach. At The Citadel, Seamonson coached under former Terp offensive coordinator Charlie Taaffe and worked alongside current defensive line coach Dave Sollazzo. He helped coach five linebackers to All-Southern Conference honors and one (J.J. Davis) to an appearance in the Senior Bowl. The highlight of his tenure was in 1992 when the Bulldogs led Division I-AA in scoring defense, yielding just 13.0 points per contest en route to a Southern Conference championship while advancing to the I-AA playoffs for the third time in five years.

The Citadel was not Seamonson's first taste of the military life, however, as he was a linebackers coach at the U.S. Military Academy (Army) in West Point, N.Y., for the 1985 and '86 seasons. In his first season at Army, the Cadets were one of the surprise teams in the country as they won the 1985 Peach Bowl, 31-29, over Illinois. It was one of just four times in the Academy's history that it had gone to a bowl game.

A 1982 graduate of Wisconsin and a two-year letterwinner for the Badgers at wide receiver, Seamonson got his start in coaching in Madison. In 1982, he served as a volunteer coach for Wisconsin's wide receivers. He then was a graduate assistant for the next two years where he worked for the Badgers' secondary unit.

Born September 7, 1959, in Stoughton, Wis., Seamonson was a wide receiver at Stoughton High School and was a captain for the all-state Shrine Team in 1977. He and his wife, Kristi, have three children: Kylan, Kalvin and Karter.

DEFENSIVE LINE/RECRUITING COORDINATOR

DAVE SOLLAZZO

THE CITADEL '77 • SEVENTH YEAR AT MARYLAND

Dave Sollazzo is in his seventh season as defensive line coach and second season as recruiting coordinator at the University of Maryland. It is his ninth season overall at the university as he was a volunteer defensive line coach for the Terps in 1986 and '87 as well as a graduate assistant in 1984. In his five years with the Terps, Sollazzo's unit has been one of the most overachieving groups on the team. Last year, Maryland's defensive line was one somewhat in transition but the unit again played well. Conrad Bolston had his best season, leading the team with 5.0 sacks and the team found what appears to be a player it will count on for years to come in first-year player Jeremy Navarre (25 tackles, 2.5 TFLs), a converted fullback. In 2004, the Terrapin defense ranked 21st nationally, giving up an average of 315.3 yards per game. Though it had lost standout DT Randy Starks a year early (selected by the Tennessee Titans in the 2004 NFL Draft), the defensive line still performed well, helping the team to top 25 rankings in three categories. In '03, the Terps were first in the league in total defense (15th nationally) and pass defense while finishing third in rushing defense. They recorded 35 sacks, just one fewer than league leader Florida State, and Starks became just the second Maryland tackle in 15 years to earn first team all-conference honors.

Dave, Ellen and Christopher Sollazzo

In 2002, Maryland finished second in the league in total defense while holding its opponents to an average of 57 yards below their season rushing averages coming into their respective games with the Terrapins. In addition, the Terps finished atop the league and seventh nationally in scoring defense, yielding just 16.3 points per game. Individually, Starks earned second team All-ACC honors in just his second season.

In his first year back at UM, Sollazzo took a group that entered the season as a concern in terms of talent and depth, and turned it into a rock-solid unit that helped anchor one of the top defenses in the ACC as the team led the league in rushing and scoring defense. Under his tutelage, nose tackle Charles Hill became an honorable mention All-ACC pick and, ultimately, a third-round choice of the Houston Texans in the 2002 NFL Draft.

Prior to his current stint at Maryland, Sollazzo was at Georgia Tech in 1999 and 2000 as a defensive tackles coach. In his two years in Atlanta, Tech participated in a pair of bowl games — the Gator Bowl in 1999 and the Peach Bowl in 2000.

Before joining the Yellow Jackets, Sollazzo was the defensive line coach at The Citadel from 1989-98. The Citadel was another homecoming for Sollazzo, as he had lettered for the Bulldogs for three years on the defensive line from 1974-76. In that time, he started 33 consecutive games under former Maryland coach Bobby Ross. His position coach was Ralph Friedgen.

As a coach at The Citadel, Sollazzo coached Brad Keeney to All-America honors and Southern Conference-leading totals in sacks and tackles for loss in 1995. In addition, he coached nine other defensive linemen to all-conference honors while with the Bulldogs. The highlight of his coaching career in Charleston, however, may have been his involvement in helping The Citadel in 1992 to the Southern Conference championship and a No. 1 ranking at the end of the regular season. That '92 squad led the nation in scoring defense at 13 points per game and finished sixth in pass efficiency defense. In 1997, he was a part of an impressive defensive effort in which the Bulldogs finished their season by not allowing a touchdown in their final 13 quarters.

Along with his ties to Maryland and The Citadel, Sollazzo has an extensive history in prep coaching. With the exception of the Maryland job in 1984 (a season that saw the Terps win the ACC and earn a berth in the Sun Bowl), Sollazzo was a high school defensive coordinator in South Carolina from 1978-85.

Sollazzo was born in the same hometown as Friedgen, Hamson, N.Y., on Christmas Eve, 1955, and earned his degree from The Citadel in 1977. He is married to the former Ellen Beloin of Farmington, Conn. The couple's first child, Christopher Francis, was born in October of 2003.

RUNNING BACKS

PHIL ZACHARIAS

SALEM COLLEGE '81 • FIRST YEAR AT MARYLAND

Phil Zacharias is in his first season coaching running backs at Maryland. He joined the Terps in June, 2006.

Zacharias possesses a wealth of experience, his resume dotted with successful stints at both the professional and collegiate levels. He spent the 2005 season working with the defensive line at Temple and the 2006 campaign will be his 26th year in coaching (20 as a college coach).

Zacharias, 47, has spent his coaching career prior to this season on the defensive side of the ball while also working with special teams. He joined the Baltimore Ravens in 2002 as a defensive line assistant and coached outside linebackers in 2003 before serving as defensive assistant in 2004. In 2003, linebacker Terrell Suggs was named Defensive Rookie of the Year and fellow linebackers Peter Boulware and Adalius Thomas were both selected to the Pro Bowl. Thomas was the conference's special teams selection. In 2004, the Ravens ranked sixth in the National Football League in total defense and had four defensive players selected to the Pro Bowl (Suggs, safety Ed Reed, linebacker Ray Lewis and cornerback Chris McAlister).

Prior to his move into the NFL ranks, Zacharias spent seven years at Stanford (1995-2001), directing defensive ends and special teams under Tyrone Willingham. In four of his seven seasons, he coached a Pac-10 leader in sacks. Under his tutelage, the Cardinal ranked second nationally in punt returns (2001) and kickoff returns (1995). In addition, Zacharias tutored first team All-America kick returner Luke Powell and Lombardi Award finalist Kailee Wong, a second-round selection of the Minnesota Vikings.

No stranger to success at the college level, Zacharias' stops have included trips to the Rose, Sun, Liberty and Seattle bowl games.

Zacharias began his coaching career at Georgetown (Kentucky) College in 1981 as a secondary coach before moving to Saint Paul College in Virginia, where he monitored defensive backs from 1982-84. He also served as an assistant at North Carolina (graduate assistant, 1985), Morehead State (defensive coordinator, 1988; outside linebackers and special teams, 1987; strength coach and outside linebackers, 1986), Eastern Michigan (outside linebackers, 1989-90), Rutgers (outside linebackers, 1991-93) and Asbury Park (N.J.) HS (defensive coordinator, 1994).

A four-year letterwinner at Salem College (W.Va.), Zacharias earned a bachelor's degree in physical education and health in 1981 before receiving his master's in education at Georgetown College in 1982. He attended Quaker Valley High School in Leetsdale, Pa., where he played football, baseball and ran track.

Zacharias was born February 12, 1959, in Sewickley, Pa. He and his wife Linda have a 15-year old son Jameson.

COACHING AIDES

When it comes to coaching aides, the University of Maryland football program has been on the cutting edge since Ralph Friedgen arrived in 2001.

The Terrapins were at the forefront in video technology, being one of the first schools to own XOS Technologies (formerly known as Pinnacle). All Maryland practices and games are digitized into a computer system, broken down and tagged and then made into a database that can be sorted any way a player or coach wants (for example: a game could be sorted by all 3rd down plays in the red zone run to the short side of the field). Opponent's film is also loaded onto computers in the Gossett Team House and laptops so players and coaches can look at film both in College Park and on the road. Every coaches office and meeting room has an XOS computer so the Terrapins are completely "tapeless" (no video tape, all on computer).

The latest on the technological forefront for the Terrapins is the simulator the team recently purchased from Gridiron Technologies. The Pro Simulator is, at its core, is a football video game similar to the popular Madden series. But where it differs is that it has Maryland's plays and some of its opponent's formations loaded so that when players are off the field and in their leisure time playing video games, they can be reinforcing what is in their playbook that week. The system can also grade a player for his decision-making and knowledge of the offense or defense.

2006 SEASON PREVIEW

The song remains the same around College Park as the 2006 football season approaches for the University of Maryland, and so do the questions from those wondering what Ralph Friedgen's sixth year on the job will hold. Phrased as many different ways as there are blades of grass on the Byrd Stadium turf, the query "Do the recent 5-6 campaigns signal a decline in the Terp program?" will continue to be asked until the Terps return to the form of the three seasons under Friedgen prior to 2004-05.

In 2006, Maryland will again field a young team, but unlike in the past two seasons, it will be a youthful team that has seen its share of work on game day. An experienced quarterback, talent and depth on the offensive line and at tailback, and arguably the deepest and most versatile linebacking corps in the Atlantic Coast Conference are among the strengths.

The primary question comes at wide receiver, where the team is extremely talented but equally green, as well as in depth and who will start at several other spots, but there is no arguing that the pieces are in place for significant improvement in the win column.

"WE HAVE TALENT - WE ARE JUST VERY YOUNG. OUR WORK IN THE SUMMER AND THE PRESEASON SHOULD HELP THEIR TECHNIQUE AND THINGS LIKE COMING OUT OF THEIR CUTS. CATCHING THE BALL WILL COME WITH CONFIDENCE. BUT HOW FAST THEY DEVELOP WILL PLAY A BIG ROLE IN WHAT KIND OF AN OFFENSE WE ARE." - RALPH FRIEDGEN

With the ACC's schedule's strength unquestioned year-in and year-out now, the Terrapins will have to earn their way to a fourth bowl in Friedgen's tenure. And if that is to happen, it will be with the man called an "offensive mastermind" at the helm as Friedgen will serve as the team's offensive coordinator for the first time in his current stint with the Terps.

The following is a position-by-position look at the 2006 Maryland Terrapins:

OFFENSE

Despite the loss of its most explosive player (Vernon Davis) a year early to the NFL Draft, the Terrapin offense could be more potent in 2006.

The Terps return an experienced, hard-working senior quarterback and a young talented signal-caller ahead of where he was when he took the field as a freshman in 2004. They return an All-ACC back and add one of the school's all-time leaders in touchdowns with returns from injury. They return the most experienced and talented offensive line in years (which also gets back a senior scheduled to have been the top player at the position in 2005 but was also lost to injury). Last, but certainly not least, its offensive coordinator this season will, for the first time, be the man who knows the system best - the man who devised it.

At a glance, there is a single question mark to the entire offense heading into fall.

"I believe the key to our offense right now is the development of our young wide receivers," said head coach/offensive coordinator Ralph Friedgen. "We have talent - we are just very young. Our work in the summer and the preseason should help their technique and things like coming out of their cuts. Catching the ball will come with confidence. But how fast they develop will play a big role in what kind of an offense we are."

They are the tallest, fastest, most athletic group of receivers Friedgen has had at Maryland. They are also the youngest and least experienced. And though their progress will be paramount to the team's success, they are not the lone area of focus.

"We also have to get better at quarterback than we have been the last few years," said Friedgen. "We have had the ability to make plays, we need to eliminate mistakes. Heading in, I don't think we are where we have to be, but I don't think we are very far off either."

Quarterback

Sam Hollenbach's first season as the Terps' starter was met with mixed reviews. His gunslinger's mentality gave Maryland the feeling that it could stay in any game, a sentiment not present the season previous. A second look shows that completing just one pass in the Florida State game (he left due to injury) and interception kept him from leading the league in passing yards and quarterback rating. His other numbers were that good (61% completions percentage, 2,539 yards). A year later, he is more comfortable in the offense, an injured should he played the second half of the season with is healed and the hope is that the turnovers will be a thing of the past. It is with these expectations that he enters the season as the clear-cut starter.

Hollenbach's primary competition for the starting job in 2006 will be sophomore Jordan Steffy. Steffy redshirted a year ago and in spring showed that he is clearly improved from a mental and mechanical standpoint. A complete quarterback who throws and runs with equal proficiency, Steffy would be a more viable option as the starter if he had shown that he could consistently move the offense in the spring. That success came in spurts. Regardless, he gives the team the best one-two punch it has had at the position in years.

Behind the top duo will be redshirt freshman Chris Turner, sophomore Bobby Sheahin and true freshman Jeremy Ricker, with all three having the same stumbling block to playing time – experience. Turner is the most comfortable at this point in the offensive system and heads the group. Sheahin, a transfer from West Virginia prior to 2005, throws and runs very well but is still working to pick up the system. Of the three this year, he is the most likely to move closer to the top of the depth chart if he can make progress in that department. Ricker is the highest-recruited quarterback in Friedgen's tenure and will likely redshirt.

The last of Maryland's quarterbacks, Josh Portis, will be sitting out the season due to NCAA transfer rules. Portis spent 2005 at Florida (as a reserve, he was the Gators' fourth-leading rusher) and in his short time at Maryland in the spring, he showed that the running skills he displayed in Gainesville were no fluke. Also possessing a strong arm, this year will serve as a learning experience and if he picks up on things well, expect him to be a serious challenger to the starting role in '07.

"Sam needs to cut down on turnovers, but he knows our offense and I have confidence in him," said Friedgen. "I am encouraged by our depth this year also and heading into future seasons. In the past we have struggled with having a senior quarterback leave and there is no one ready to step in but I feel like the numbers we have now are good for our future at the position as well as for competition this year."

Tailback

In 2005, the Terps entered a season for the first time in nearly a decade without a clear-cut starting tailback. A year later, the situation could not be more different.

Not only does the team return a player who looked like an emerging star at the end of last season in second team All-ACC back Lance Ball, but it also returns its top breakaway threat since 2002 in senior Josh Allen. Ball – the ACC's leading returning rusher (903 yards, 4.8 avg. in '05) – is not yet the home run hitter Allen has been in his career, but the package he possesses lacks little else. He has great balance, quick feet, sees the hole well and is a good pass catcher. The objective for Allen in the spring was to take it slow and not get hurt but by the end of the session, the senior – who missed all of last season with a knee injury – was healthy, regaining his old speed and chomping at the bit. In short, the top of the Terrapins' depth chart looks to be in more than capable hands.

"I AM ANXIOUS TO SEE THE PROGRESS OF JOSH ALLEN AND WHAT HE CAN BRING BACK TO OUR OFFENSE. IF HE CAN GIVE US THE BREAKAWAY THREAT THAT HE GAVE US IN THE PAST AND YOU ADD THAT TO A LANCE (BALL), WHO I THINK WILL ONLY CONTINUE TO IMPROVE, I THINK WE CAN BE PRETTY GOOD." - RALPH FRIEDGEN

The possible contributions, however, do not end with the top two backs. Senior J.P. Humber looked like a downhill runner in the spring, putting himself next in line for playing time. His main competition will come from junior Keon Lattimore, a back who performed well last year but still seems to have untapped physical potential. Rounding out the group will be first-year players Morgan Green and Da'Rel Scott. Green showed in spring that he still has some learning to do while coaches are excited to see if the speedy Scott can adjust to life at the collegiate level.

"I am anxious to see the progress of Josh Allen and what he can bring back to our offense," said Friedgen. "If he can give us the breakaway threat that he gave us in the past and you add that to a Lance (Ball), who I think will only continue to improve, I think we can be pretty good. Behind them, J.P. Humber showed us in the spring that we will have a real good battle between he and Lattimore and you throw a couple of the young guys in the mix and we are pretty deep and talented."

Fullback

Leading the way for the Terp tailbacks will be a group whose main objective will be to add depth. Junior Tim Cesa has settled in at the position to the point where "converted linebacker" will likely no longer be required in front of his name. Cesa is an aggressive blocking back who began learning the finer points of the position last year and has clearly found a home.

The team's depth was depleted somewhat last year, but 2005 walk-on Chris Gronkowski – one of the strongest players on the team pound-for-pound – looks like he will be able to step in and give some solid support. Newcomer Cory Jackson will also get a good look and have a shot to play. The Morgantown, W.Va., native could bring a running threat to the position.

Tim Cesa has made the transition from linebacker to fullback

Friedgen has hinted that first-year center Evan Eastburn could also get a look in goal line situations and the Terp H-backs can also factor in when splitting up the repetitions.

"It is clear that Tim Cesa is developing into a good fullback," said Friedgen. "What we need is for some of the young kids like Gronkowski or Cory Jackson to come on and give us some help there. We could also get some help there from the H-back position from a player like Jason Goode or Drew Gloster."

Isiah Williams (left) is one of the young talents at wide receiver, while Dre Weatherly (right) is the team's most experienced wide receiver returning

Wide Receiver

The Terp trio of Derrick Fenner, Danny Melendez and Jo Walker have moved on, leaving the team without 109 of the 210 balls caught last season. That pretty much sums up the team's concerns at the position headed into 2006.

On the positive, the five players recruited for last season all appear to have panned out from a talent perspective, a feat not often achieved in a single signing class. This year's group of receivers, though lacking experience, have the athletic intangibles that few – if any – have ever had at Maryland.

At the "X" spot, second-year players Isaiah Williams and Terrell Skinner will square off for the starting job. Williams is the total package athletically, but has not put it all together on the field. If he is able to, the team will have a top-flight receiver. Skinner is a quiet, go-about-your-business player who Friedgen praises for his toughness on a regular basis. A former quarterback, Skinner runs well, has long arms and made plays when given a chance in the spring. Sophomore Matt Goldberg is the veteran of the group while first-year player Adrian Cannon could also be a factor as the most highly-touted incoming receiver.

The team's most experience will reside at the "Z" spot where Drew Weatherly, one of just two senior wide receivers, resides. In the offseason, Weatherly looked like the player the Terps thought they had when he arrived on campus with then-wide receiver Vernon Davis. He has good size and speed and looked in the spring like he will be able to utilize that this season. Sophomore Danny Oquendo (the starter in the slot) will back up Weatherly. Oquendo is quick and hard-nosed and has become one of the quarterbacks' favorite targets because of his reliable hands. Another player who may be a difference-maker is redshirt freshman Darrius Heyward-Bey, the fastest player on the team. Heyward-Bey is a field stretcher and as he continues to learn the offense, could become a major factor. True freshman Emani Lee-Odai will also work at "Z."

Behind Oquendo in the slot is the fifth 2005 signee looking to make his mark, Nolan Carroll. Carroll started making his move midway through last year, showing he had overcome an injury suffered as a prep and looks as though the move from the outside was the correct one. He is quick and has shown the ability to make plays in traffic.

Danny Oquendo (left) takes over the starting spot at the slot, while Dan Gronkowski (right) is a former quarterback who will look to help fill the void left by the departed All-American Vernon Davis.

Senior Greg Powell is a steady receiver who will help from an experience standpoint while Stephen Smalls, the team's best leaper (47-inch vertical jump), will look to learn the offense.

"I like the group of receivers we have," said Friedgen. "You can't lose as much as we lost and just expect to move on without a hiccup. My hope is that they continue to progress throughout the season and give us some of what we see from an athletic standpoint. They should be a good group, it is just a matter of when."

improvement while in the spring, Haynos showed the ability to get down the middle of the field and use his height to make plays.

The other player fitting the "big" tight end mode is Tommy Galt, a redshirt freshman who could get a look in multiple tight end or goal line formations.

The Terrapins do not utilize an H-back the way they did two years ago, but with the departure of Davis and the addition of Friedgen as offensive coordinator that could change that a bit. Junior Jason Goode and true freshman Drew Gloster each have the versatility to catch, block and split out wide. Goode has yet to break out but will be counted on to provide more of a spark to the passing game. Goode and Gloster both run well and could provide Friedgen with potential matchup problems for a defense as they progress.

"Our tight ends did better in the spring than I anticipated," said Friedgen. "Gronkowski and Joey Haynos both block pretty well. Are they Vernon Davis? No. But they are two good tight ends and hopefully they can continue to improve."

Offensive Line

Strength or weakness at any other unit can always make a difference in an offense's performance, but no other unit can help compensate for shortcomings or accentuate strengths like an offensive line. Heading into this season, the Maryland offensive line looks to be the best and deepest of any in the Friedgen Era, and could be that difference-making type of group.

This year's offensive line returns three starters from 2005, its top lineman from 2004 (who missed '05 due to an injury) and starting-caliber depth at both tackle and guard. The lone concern as the season approaches is an inexperienced center position.

Maryland entered spring camp with sophomore Edwin Williams, the frontrunner for the starting job with the goal of improving his comfort at the pivot as much as his overall play. Less than a week into practice, he went down with a finger injury that required surgery and kept him out the remainder of spring. Williams has good size, quickness, strength and intelligence, but in work as a reserve a year ago, nerves got the better of him at times.

He will be ready for fall camp but will see competition from redshirt freshman Phil Costa for the job as Costa took all of the reps with the first team in spring and continued to impress while getting noticeably bigger and stronger than he was as a true freshman. Newcomer Evan Eastburn will provide depth and hopefully get up to speed quickly.

Junior Andrew Crummey leads the pack of guards from his post on the right side. Once noticeably thin by lineman standards, the heady junior now looks that part at 301 pounds and could be poised for a breakout season. Garrick Clig and Lee Oliver will line up behind him. One of the team's strongest linemen, Clig got work as a backup center with the numbers low in the offseason, joining Crummey as possibilities to fill in if needed.

On the left side, it will be a battle for the starting job between incumbent Donnie Woods and sophomore Jaimie Thomas. Woods, who started all of last year despite an injured shoulder, missed spring as the injury healed while Thomas made ground. Woods plays smart and with passion and will be tough to unseat, while Thomas has been moving closer to the play anticipated of him when he first arrived, showing size and athleticism. Junior

Jack Griffin will likely redshirt while working to make the transition from the defensive side of the ball.

If the Terps don't lay claim to the league's best line, it will be hard to debate against their tackles. The team's top lineman from 2004 (and an anticipated honors candidate a year ago), Stephon Heyer returns after injuring his knee in camp a year ago. Heyer successfully made his way through spring and gives Maryland an experienced pass blocker with impeccable credentials on Hollenbach's blind side. Unlike in season's past, however, Heyer will not be a

"I THINK OUR OFFENSIVE LINE SHOULD BE SOLID AT ITS WORST. WE HAVE MORE DEPTH THAN WE HAVE HAD THAN IN THE PAST. IF WE CAN STAY HEALTHY, WE HAVE A CHANCE TO BE PRETTY DARNED GOOD." - RALPH FRIEDGEN ho-in for the job as junior Scott Burley is healthy and, at stout 6-5, 326 pounds, is playing his best ball.

Jared Gaither (left) emerged as a dominant offensive tackle as a freshman in 2005. He got the chance to play due to a season-ending injury to Stephon Heyer (right) who returns in 2006 to team with Gaither to make a formidable tandem at tackle.

On the right side, a potential star was born in 2005. With Heyer out, then-true frosh Jared Gaither stepped in after game three at left tackle and did not relinquish the spot – or give up a sack – the entire season. At 6-9 and 350 pounds, Gaither is a load who can run and pass block and proved in last year's NC State game that he can handle the duties on the right side. Midway through that contest, Gaither shifted from the left to the right side of the line after the team struggled with overall No. 1 pick Mario Williams, and from that point forward the freshman shut the star offensive end down.

Gaither's chief competition will come from Dane Randolph, another Terp bookend on the rise. Randolph saw significant action last year and has improved seemingly with every snap since moving from defensive tackle his freshman year. He continues to get bigger and stronger, yet has maintained his good feet, giving the team yet another competitive player at the tackle position.

"I think our offensive line should be solid at its worst," said Friedgen. "We have more depth than we have had in the past. If we can stay healthy, we have a chance to be pretty darned good."

Jeremy Navarre saw significant playing time as a freshman in 2005 and should be an even bigger factor in the Terps defense this season.

DEFENSE

For the first time in five years, the defensive side of the ball had its share of difficulties last season. Though the scoring average was relatively low based on the help opposition was given from turnovers, Maryland's defense tumbled at crucial points in games last year, often when the Terps were trying to hold off the opposition or mount a comeback late in the contest.

On the other hand, the Terps were 19th nationally in pass defense and led the nation in passing touchdowns allowed, yielding just four TDs the entire season. That will be something to build on for first-year defensive coordinator Chris Cosh, a local product who has had his share of coaching at institutions known for producing a tough, attacking defense (Illinois, Michigan State, Kansas State). Cosh's style will not look drastically different from the successful, upfield style of that of his predecessor Gary Blackney, yet his in-your-face coaching approach and attention to every minute detail already has his players' attention.

Maryland returns every top defensive lineman this season, a slew of talented linebackers, and an improving group of defensive backs. On paper, the weaknesses are few and the expectation is a return to one of the nation's leading defensive units.

"I anticipate that we will be improved on defense this year," said Friedgen. "I don't think our philosophy has changed with Coach Cosh coming on – we still like to get after people. I have been pleased with what I have seen and look forward to seeing how things go when we crank things up."

Defensive Line

This year's defensive line will have at least one benefit that groups in previous years did not – all of its starters and key reserves return this year. Last year, DE Lawrence Merriman left a year early for the NFL; the year

One of the strongest players on the team, he moves tremendously well and has the skills of an all-conference player. If he can get the "motor" running early and not let it stop, he could have a breakout year. Behind that duo will be Rob Armstrong, a player who returned from injury in the spring and played well at times. Also in the mix will be Mack Frost, the second end who will get a look inside.

The player who excited players as much as any in the offseason was defensive end Jeremy Navarre. Navarre has noticeably added weight to his frame, plays with intensity and continues to use his hands well, and looked simply like he will be a force in year two. A former wrestler, Navarre has the strength to deal with men larger than him yet is quick enough to get around them. Behind Navarre, Frost and Savage will be battling for playing time as will second-year player Deegee Galt. Frost has shown flashes in his time with the Terps and hope is he will make those appearances more frequently. Same goes for Savage whose long arms help him in the pass rushing department.

before, DT Randy Starks did as well. This season, the hope is that continuity and the return of its top senior will help the unit take the next step.

At defensive tackle, senior Conrad Bolston returns after his finest season as a Terrapin. Bolston led the team in sacks (5.0) and was second in TFLs (5.5) from his spot on the interior last year, showing that he can fill a gap and get through one with equal proficiency. Bolston is strong, moves well, plays with great intensity and should be set for postseason honors if he continues on the track set last season. Behind him will be second-year player Travis Ivey who could be a Bolston-in-waiting and will likely benefit greatly from working behind the senior standout. Ivey has the ideal combination of size and athleticism, needing only to learn the finer points of playing the position to be an Conrad Bolston proved to be able to stuff the run and rush the passer after leading the team with 5.0 sacks last season.

David Holloway (left) and Wesley Jefferson (center) are the most experienced returning linebackers, while Christian Varner (right) is expected to be a key player in a deep Terrapin secondary.

"I would expect that we would be improved on the defensive line this year with the returnees and the progress of certain players," said Friedgen. "Jeremy Navarre's progress has been good to see and I hope a few other players at that position can help us out. Conrad Bolston had a good junior year and should be even better this season and at the nose. Dre Moore just needs to play at a high level every down. We know what we have in Feliciano so he will be challenged."

Linebackers

Similar to the concerns at tight end, the linebacking corps has lost a standout in 2005 ACC Defensive Player of the Year D'Qwell Jackson and fellow starter William Kershaw. Despite those losses, Maryland enters this year excited about its group of linebackers.

At LEO, Trey Covington returns after a solid first season as a starter. Covington is a sideline-to-sideline type of player and a good pass rusher. He improved on his run support last season, the strength of teammate Jermaine Lemons. Include in the mix redshirt freshmen Barrod Higgs and Jared Harrell (2005 defensive scout team Player of the Year) as well as athletic newcomer Brian Whitmore, and the Terrapins appear set for years to come. Higgs is growing at a rate that makes him a potential candidate at end, but regardless, Maryland has 3-4 players sophomore or younger at LEO and no lack of experience – a good combination.

The man looking to replace Jackson and move into the position that has produced three of the last five league defensive players of the year is junior Wesley Jefferson. Jefferson does not possess the size that made E.J. Henderson a force nor the quickness that catapulted Jackson all over the field. Simply put, he is a natural football player. He makes plays on game day, rarely misses a tackle and always seems to be around the ball. There could be additions to the group of "Mike" linebackers, but for now that group includes Jefferson, veteran Chase

Bullock, Alex Schultz and newcomer Alex Wujciak. Wujciak, a highly-touted prep, is athletic enough to have been a standout for his high school basketball team in the fall while also working to add weight for his first camp as a collegian.

Despite the loss of Kershaw, the Terps could be better than last year at "Will" linebacker. Sophomore Erin Henderson returns from injury and will battle for the starting job with Moses Fokou, a transfer who has excited coaches. Henderson will be tough to beat out, however, as he is a playmaker who runs well, has good size and plays with as much intensity as any player the Terrapins have.

Fokou spent last season on the scout team but opened coaches' eyes every week. He continued to make plays after play in the spring and the likelihood is that he and Henderson will share the field, regardless of who starts. True freshman Chris Clinton joined the team as an early enrollee in the spring and performed well, while another athletic player who sat out last season due to transfer rules Rick Costa, also joins the fray. The brother of center Phil Rick Costa has good speed and strength and seems to thrive on hitting.

Entering his third year starting at the "Sam" spot is senior David Holloway, the team's leading returning tackler from a year ago. Holloway is a steady force who rarely makes assignment errors and combines skill in run support as well as the pass rush. He will get a push from the speedy Dave Philistin, one of several Terps who saw action as a true freshman in 2005. Philistin is slightly bigger than Holloway and runs under a 4.6 in the 40-yard dash. Also working on the strong side will be Jeff Clement and Steve Pfister.

"I am never going to have a problem with competition and that is what we have at linebacker this year," said Friedgen. "We are young, but I don't see that as a problem with this group. I am looking forward to seeing a healthy Erin Henderson and what he can do and also what role the transfers will play. I have complete confidence in Wesley (Jefferson). I don't expect him to be an E.J. or D'Qwell, but you can't have those type of expectations for any player in his first year starting."

Defensive Backs

Friedgen credits Tim Banks, a former college defensive back and a Gary Blackney disciple from his days at Bowling Green, for the work he has done with the secondary following Blackney's retirement last year. Banks has done nice work with the returning players, but where his coaching has shown is with several of the younger defensive backs.

Senior Josh Wilson is the anchor of the group at boundary cornerback. Wilson is one of the team's fastest players, good in coverage and is arguably one of the best corners in the league in run support. He is also versatile enough to move to field corner if called upon. Sophomore Kevin Barnes works behind Wilson and – along with Jamari McCullough – is coming off of a very good spring. At 6-1, Barnes is the team's tallest corner and a good leaper. McCullough showed a nose for the ball in spring and made great strides over last season, giving the Terps added depth. Redshirt Adam Kareem and newcomers PhaTerrell Washington and LaQuan Williams will also work on the boundary side.

There will be competition for playing time at field cornerback. Junior Isaiah Gardner will look to lock down the starting job in fall. The former Notre Dame transfer played well last season and will look to make use of what might be the secondary's all-around most athletic frame (sub-4.4 in the 40-yard dash; 42-inch vertical). Challenging Gardner will be Richard Taylor – another player who has made great strides in the last year – and Anthony Wiseman, the second-year player who seems fully recovered from a knee injury suffered his senior year of high school and back to his speedy ways. Two newcomers, Brandon Jackson-Mills and Taji Thornton, will also get their first crack at playing time on the field side.

Senior Marcus Wimbush heads the list at strong safety playing the pass better than he has at in point in his tenure. A big hitter, Wimbush will get competition from former Navy cornerback Hunter Reddick and second-year player Jeff Allen. Reddick will give the team versatility in nickel and dime packages with his cover ability and showed in the spring that he is a playmaker.

Christian Vamer enters his second year as the team's starting free safety. Vamer is instinctive and brings another big hitter to the defensive backfield. His cover skills are improved and he brings leadership to the secondary. Fellow junior J.J. Justice has also stepped up his skills in coverage and will compete with Vamer at the spot. Justice runs well for a player his size and is has played both safety spots, giving the Terps even more versatility.

"I couldn't be happier with the job Tim Banks has done," said Friedgen. "Players like Josh Wilson we didn't have to worry about – we knew we would be okay there. But where I have seen a difference is in players like Jamari McCullough and Kevin Barnes. Even a player like Marcus Wimbush. They just seem to be more comfortable with what they are doing and I think Tim has done a great job communicating with them. It has improved our depth and improved competition."

Specialists

Maryland returns nearly every player in key special teams slots this year. It did not lose a kicker, punter or snapper and appears to be in good shape in the returns.

Senior Dan Ennis and sophomore Obi Egekeze will be at it again in the fall, working to determine the team's starting placekicker. Ennis got off to a fast start last season, hitting his first 11 field goals, but had a little trouble down the stretch, opening the race back up. Egekeze injured his leg in camp last year and was never a factor, but hopes to display the strong leg that had him highly-touted as a prep. He will also be in a battle for kickoff duties with Chris Roberts.

Entering his final season, Adam Podlesh is a viable All-American candidate at punter. Podlesh has had three outstanding seasons to date, displaying any quality the Terps could have hoped for out of the position – distance, hang time. directional kicking and placement.

The long snapping duties will be manned by Andrew Schmitt, while Brendan McDermond will handle short snaps. The Terrapins enter this season with the second-longest streak in the nation for games without a punt block, dating back to November of the 1999 season (Georgia has the longest streak with its last block taking place in September, 1999).

The lone loss from last season was Jo Jo Walker, one of the league leaders in all-purpose yards. Handling punts will be Danny Oquendo, a tough player whose good hands won him the job. Josh Wilson will open the year getting a look returning kicks, giving the team a speedy breakaway threat at that spot.

"We need to improve at kicker," said Friedgen. "It's as simple as that. I don't know if I need to put more pressure on them, but that is what I am going to do and we will see who comes out best. Adam Podlesh is one of the best punters in the country and hopefully he closes his career with his finest season. He has given us all that we could have asked to this point."

2005 REVIEW NOTEBOOK

Friedgen Ranks Fifth

- Ralph Friedgen was the top second-, third- and fourth-year coach in ACC history by wins. At the end of season five, he ranks second all-time among ACC coaches having completed five years at an institution. The mark of 44 wins set by Clemson's Danny Ford from 1979-83 is three more than the 41 of Friedgen between 2001 and 2005. His mark of 41 ties him for second with former Terrapin great Jerry Claiborne (1972-76) on the list, also making it a school record for victories in that amount of time.

Seniors Bid Farewell

- A total of 13 seniors played their final game as Terrapins as the 2005 season closed at NC State. The following is a list of the seniors on last year's team (* = letters earned prior to 2005):

Name	Letters	Hometown
Russell Bonham, OG		Winston-Salem, N.C.
Ricardo Dickerson, FB/LB		Hyattsville
Derrick Fenner, WR		Hampton, Va.
Milton Harris, S	*	Lanham

Sam Hollenbach threw for more yards than any other first year starter under Coach Friedgen at Maryland.

Sam Quarter-back

- In the last few seasons, all eyes have been on the quarterback position at Maryland. In 2004, there was little mention of Sam Hollenbach as a serious contender for the job, but a start against Wake Forest in the 2004 finale and a solid season in 2005 suggested the Terps may have found their man.
- Hollenbach had found the bottom of the depth chart in his first two years, struggling both with the offense and with delivering the football. Perseverance, work and a change in his throwing motion, however, have steadily moved him to the starting job and early season success.
- In his 11 games last season, the Pennsylvania native was 192-of-315 (61 percent) for 2,539 yards with 13 touchdowns and 15 interceptions. He also rushed for a pair of TDs.
- Hollenbach finished 2005 ranked in the top five of the ACC in efficiency (132.8/5th), passing average (230.8/2nd) and total offense (229.2/4th), a claim only one other league QB (Charlie Whitehurst) could make.
- Eliminate the five plays he played injured against FSU (he completed his lone pass for 29 yards before coming back out) and Hollenbach averaged 251 yards passing per game in '05, tops in the ACC.
- Hollenbach is 6-5 in his career as a starter.
- In the win at UNC, he threw two interceptions that each led to Tar Heel scores, but overcame the setbacks to post some career numbers. He finished 19-of-31 for 374 yards and three touchdowns. The yardage total (second-highest single-game total in the ACC in 2005) and touchdowns were both new career highs and his two late TDs -- both over 60 yards -- paced the Terrapin comeback.
- Against #19/18 Virginia, Hollenbach didn't start slow, but the way he finished made it seem like it. Two early interceptions dogged the Pennsylvania native, but his final three quarters showed no fear as he completed 18 of his final 22 passes for 249 yards. On the day, he finished 25-of-33 for 320 yards with a pair of TDs and interceptions. His completion and yardage totals were both career highs.

How He Stacks Up

- Below is a look at how Sam Hollenbach compares to the other three starting quarterbacks (Shaun Hill, Scott McBrien and Joel Statham) in their first seasons under Ralph Friedgen.

Player (Yr.)	Att-Cmp-Int	TD	Yds.	Eff. Rtg.	YPG
S. Hill ('01)	329-197-9	13	2,380	128.2	216.4
S. McBrien ('02)	284-162-10	15	2,497	141.3	178.4
J. Statham ('04)	217-118-12	8	1,520	114.3	168.9
S. Hollenbach ('05)	315-192-15	13	2,539	132.8	230.8

*Hollenbach only played five snaps in game 8 vs. FSU

Receivers Have Big Year

- One of the noticeable differences in the 2005 team was that of the team's receivers under first-year coach Bryan Bossard.
- In 2004, Maryland's leading wide receiver was Derrick Fenner, who caught 35 passes for 43 yards and two touchdowns. The top three receiver accounted for 80 receptions, 954 yards and three touchdowns.
- By comparison, the top three wide receivers of 2005 -- Danny Melendez, Jo Jo Walker and Fenner -- posted 109 receptions for 1,481 yards and seven TDs. The team had three wide receivers and a tight end with more receptions and yards than last year's leading receiver had with one game still left in the season.
- The team's top producer in the passing game in '05 was tight end Vernon Davis who had 51 receptions for 871 yards and six TDs. Davis led the ACC in receiving yards per game.

Senior Danny Melendez was an integral part of the Terrapin receiving corps in 2005

Green Shells

- Though the 2004 Terrapins were a young group Maryland out-did itself when it came to playing with youth on the field in 2005.
- Early in the season, Coach Friedgen liked to throw out a note about the number of players on the roster with three or more years eligibility remaining, but his number (58) had been based on a look at student-athletes receiving financial aid.
- A look at the entire roster is astounding. A total of 72 Maryland players were sophomore or younger with 47 of those Terps being freshmen (redshirt or true).
- On the season, Maryland had seven true freshmen and 13 redshirt freshmen see action.
- With DE Jeremy Navarre starting in game one and OT Jared Gaither in game four, the Terps had a true freshman start the earliest in a season in Friedgen's tenure on either side of the ball.

Balloting the Terp Defense

When he was hired to come to Maryland, the talk about the mark Ralph Friedgen would make in College Park was all about offense. In each of the four seasons heading into 2005, however, the most consistent Terp unit was the defense.

Since 2001, the Maryland defense has allowed an average of 19.0 points per game. The 2005 campaign was the team's first in that time finishing a season with a scoring average above 20.0 as it allowed 24.5 points per contest.

Since 2001, 39 of Maryland's 61 opponents (64%) have been held to 20 points or less.

Since 2002, Maryland has held its opposition scoreless in 88 quarters (15 in 2005). When it held Virginia Tech scoreless in the first quarter of this year's game, it became the first team to hold the Hokies scoreless in any quarter through seven games of 2005.

Maryland has held eight opponents to 100 yards or less passing since 2001 and two (Navy and West Virginia) this season.

Under Friedgen, Maryland has held its opposition below 100 yards rushing 14 times.

In week five of 2005, Virginia's Marques Hagans became the first quarterback since Chns Rix in 2003 to throw for more than 250 yards against Maryland. Hagans was 17-of-35 (.485) for 270 yards and no TDs against the Terps.

Just twice since game two of 2003 has a quarterback been able to pass for more than one touchdown against the Terrapins (Virginia Tech's Bryan Randall last year and Clemson's Charlie Whitehurst in week two of this season).

The Terps' effort in game four of '05 was its first true notable accomplishment of 2005. The Terrapins held Wake Forest to just 244 yards of offense, but more importantly, 111 on the ground, 159 below the Deacs' average coming into the game.

Though it struggled holding Virginia Tech in check in the fourth quarter, the Maryland defense did have at least one notable accomplishment against the Hokies as it intercepted QB Marcus Vick three times (Vick had only been picked twice in his previous six games of the season).

Terps Lead Nation

Opposing offenses struggled to find the end zone through the air against Maryland's defense last year. The Terrapins finished the year as the national leaders in fewest passing touchdowns allowed and ranked 19th nationally in pass defense. The ledger:

Rank	Team	Pass TDs Allowed
	Maryland	4
	Auburn, Georgia, Miami (Fla.), Ohio State	8
	Alabama, Tennessee, Tulsa	9

D'Qwell Jackson was named the ACC Defensive Player of the Year, the second Terp to earn that honor under head coach Ralph Friedgen, after finishing second in the nation with an average of 13.7 tackles per game.

Jackson ACC Defensive P.O.T.Y.

- D'Qwell Jackson was considered undersized as a prep. He began his career playing in the shadows of a legend (E.J. Henderson) early in his career. His career now complete at Maryland, the team's emotional leader has been through just about everything and emerged as the unquestionable star of the Maryland defense, an All-American, and one of the top defensive players at any position in the country.
- In 2005, Jackson made the cut on several of the nation's premier postseason awards. He earned mention for the Butkus Award (semifinalist), Lott Trophy (finalist) and Bednarik Award (finalist). He follows the heels of his predecessor, E.J. Henderson, who won both the Butkus (nation's best linebacker) and Bednarik (nation's best defensive player) in 2002 and in December of 2005 was named the ACC's Defensive Player of the Year.
- Jackson led the Terrapin defense in tackling in each of his three years as a starter (136 in 2003; an ACC-best 123 in 2004; and an ACC-best 137 in 2005).
- In '05, Jackson finished second in the nation with an average of 13.7 tackles per game and led the NCAA for much of the year.
- Jackson posted 15 or more tackles in a game five times in 2005.
- Against West Virginia, Jackson moved into the Maryland career top 10 with his 359th tackle. He finished his career fourth with 447.
- The fiercest competitor on the Terp roster, Jackson led Maryland in tackles in 22 of 34 games the last three years and all but one of the 10 games he played in this year.
- Jackson had 22 career games with double-digit tackles (in 34 starts).
- In the final game of his career at Maryland, Jackson was all over the field against NC State. He finished with 13 tackles (nine solo), 3.5 tackles for loss, and two sacks.
- In his final regular season trip to his home state of Florida, Jackson posted a game-high (both teams) 15 tackles and a tackle for loss against No. 10/9 FSU.
- After missing the Temple game due to injury, Jackson returned to the lineup against No. 3 Virginia Tech and finished with a team-high 11 tackles and an interception -- his first of the year -- which he returned 21 yards to the Hokie 33-yard line.
- Against No. 19/18 Virginia, Jackson led the team in tackles with 14 while recording a sack and a half TFL.
- Jackson -- a first team All-ACC selection who finished second in balloting (by two votes) for Defensive Player of the Year honors -- averaged 11.2 tackles per game last year, making him the lone player in the league to average 10 or more tackles per game.
- Jackson was selected in the second round (the second pick of the round) in the 2006 NFL Draft by the Cleveland Browns.

2006 MARYLAND FOOTBALL

'The Duke' Leads the ACC

- One of the most physically-gifted players in the history of Maryland football, TE Vernon "Duke" Davis has had a breakout season in 2005.
- Davis led the team in receiving yards last year from his H-back position, posting 441 yards (on 27 receptions) in what could best be described as a down year for Maryland's pass offense. As a junior, he shattered those marks.
- Davis finished 2005 with 51 receptions for 871 yards and six touchdowns. His 79.2 yards per game receiving led the ACC and 42nd nationally.
- Davis averaged 17.1 yards per reception, an amazing number for a tight end and a total that ranks in the Maryland top 10 for a single season.
- When the season closed, Davis owned three of the top five games in terms of receiving yards by a tight end in the NCAA. The other two were posted by Tulsa's Garrett Mills.
- Against North Carolina, Davis set a career high with seven receptions for 138 yards and a touchdown. His 24-yard TD grab was one-handed, falling backwards and was one of the "Top Plays" on ESPN that evening.
- In catching five passes for a career-high 158 yards against West Virginia (the NCAA's current 15th-ranked team against the pass), Davis became the first Maryland player to record back-to-back 100-yard receiving games since 1995 when Jermaine Lewis posted 205 yards on nine catches (9/23/95 vs. Duke) and 189 (9/28/95 at Georgia Tech) in consecutive contests.
- Against Clemson, the Washington, D.C. native had his first big game of 2005. He finished with a career-high six receptions for 140 yards and a touchdown, often dragging tacklers with him if not running by them.
- For his efforts against both Clemson, West Virginia and North Carolina this year, Davis was named John Mackey National Tight End of the Week. He and UCLA's Mercedes Lewis are the only two players to receive the award three times.
- Davis was named a first team All-American by the Associated Press and AFCA, among others. He was ultimately selected with the sixth overall pick of the 2006 NFL Draft by the San Francisco 49ers.

Adam Podlesh finished 2005 with a 35 net punting average, which led the ACC and was seventh in the NCAA.

Vernon Davis was a finalist for the Mackey Award after leading the Terps in receptions and receiving yards in 2005

Podlesh Has Another Strong Season

- Junior Adam Podlesh settled into his career Maryland before the ink had dried in the record books on his predecessor Brooks Barnard's storied career. Though Podlesh has not broken the majority of Barnard's records, Maryland finds itself with arguably the most complete and versatile punter in the nation.
- On 160 career punts, Podlesh has dropped 30 percent (60) inside the opponents' 20-yard line.
- With a 43.6-yard average in 2005, Podlesh ranked 13th nationally and second in the ACC in punting average (trailing only Ray Guy Award winner Ryan Plackemeier).
- Against North Carolina, Podlesh averaged 42.5 yards on his four punts, but more impressively landed three punts inside the 20-yard line.
- Podlesh had one of his best games as a Terp at Wake Forest this year. Dueling the ACC's other top punter, Ryan Plackemeier, Podlesh posted a 49.7-yard average on six punts with three balls downed inside the 20-yard line. In addition, his net average for the day was an impressive 47.7 yards per kick.
- In 2004, Podlesh maintained a 44.8-yard average (second-best in the ACC and 10th-best in the nation) while his net average (39.4) led the ACC and was also seventh in the NCAA.
- In being named the second team All-ACC punter in 2003, Podlesh became the first freshman in school history to be recognized by the league. He earned the honor for the second-straight season in 2004.

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Sam Hollenbach threw an 11-yard touchdown pass to Drew Weatherly with 2 seconds left, capping a frantic 82-yard drive that earned Maryland past Navy in a game played at M&T Bank Stadium in Baltimore.

Hollenbach went 19-for-30 for 217 yards, and Mario Memills ran for 149 yards on 30 carries to help Maryland recover from an early 11-point deficit in the opener for both teams.

After a 6-yard touchdown run by Matt Hall gave Navy a 20-15 lead with 4:43 left, Hollenbach brought the Terrapins back. The key play came just before the touchdown, when Lance Ball took a short pass on a fourth-and-8 from the Navy 31 and slipped several tackles during a 20-yard gain.

Hollenbach then fired the winning pass to Weatherly in the middle of the end zone before Memills' conversion.

A crowd of 67,809 nearly filled the Baltimore Ravens' stadium for the first meeting between the teams since 1965.

Hollenbach, who won the starting job during spring practice, threw two early interceptions that helped Navy to take a 14-3 lead. But he and Memills got the Terrapins' offense going in the second quarter, and Maryland's defense permitted only six points over the final three quarters.

Hollenbach scored two touchdowns, and quarterback Lamar Owens ran for 122 yards for the Terrapins.

Midway through the third quarter, the Terrapins launched a 58-yard drive that produced Dan Ennis' field goal, a 40-yarder that cut Navy's lead to 14-9 with 6 seconds left in the period. Memills ran for 45 yards on six carries during the march.

The Terrapins later had Ennis kick a 12-yard field goal to cap a 12-play, 80-yard drive that ended with a touchdown run by Matt Hall. The Midshipmen converted four third downs, including a 37-yard pass from Owens to Jason Tomlinson on third-and-5 from the Navy 25.

The Terrapins' next possession ended with an interception by Navy cornerback Jake Biles. The Midshipmen promptly moved 43 yards in six plays, taking a 4-3 lead on a 7-yard run by Marco Nelson on the final play from scrimmage in the quarter.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Reggie Merriweather scored his second touchdown on a 38-yard run with 2:58 remaining, capping a furious fourth-quarter rally that carried Clemson past Maryland.

Clemson (2-0, 1-0 Atlantic Coast Conference) trailed 24-14 before Charlie Whitehurst's second touchdown pass to Curtis Baham cut the deficit to three points with 7:35 remaining.

After a punt by Maryland, Whitehurst directed a 61-yard drive that concluded on Merriweather's winning carry around right end.

Whitehurst went 18-for-22 for 178 yards. With Clemson down by 10, he took the Tigers 86 yards in five plays, including an outstanding long pass to Baham that covered the final 51 yards.

Sam Hollenbach went 18-for-28 for 288 yards and two touchdowns for Maryland (1-1, 0-1). His main target was Vernon Davis, who had six catches for 140 yards and a touchdown.

Clemson took a 14-10 lead in the third quarter on a 6-yard touchdown pass from Whitehurst to Baham. The 63-yard drive followed an interception by Tye Hill and was aided by two personal foul calls against Maryland.

The Terrapins came right back, using a 29-yard TD pass from Hollenbach to Davis to go up 17-14. The play capped an 80-yard drive in which Davis caught a 30-yarder on a third-and-7 from the Maryland 23.

After Clemson punted, Hollenbach deftly engineered a 63-yard drive in which he went 5-for-5 for 57 yards. After completing a 25-yard swing pass to tight end Dan Gronkowski on fourth-and-1 from the Clemson 31, Hollenbach averted pressure in the pocket and flipped a 3-yard TD pass to Joey Haynos, the sophomore's first career reception.

Hollenbach went 5-for-9 for 126 yards in the first half, helping Maryland take a 10-7 lead.

Clemson appeared stopped on its opening possession when Whitehurst fumbled a snap and inadvertently dropped to one knee on a third-and-3 from his 32. But Maryland was called for unsportsmanlike conduct, giving the Tigers a first down.

Merriweather ultimately concluded the 17-play drive with a fourth-down touchdown run from the 1. The Tigers held the ball for 9 minutes, 47 seconds - the longest drive in Clemson history.

The Terrapins answered with a field goal, then took advantage of a Clemson miscue to take a 10-7 lead.

The Tigers were prepared to punt when the snap soared over the head of Cole Chason, who chased down the ball and was tackled on his 2. On fourth down, Hollenbach scored on a sneak.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Backup quarterback Pat White directed three fourth-quarter touchdown drives, and West Virginia rushed for 301 yards in a victory over the Terrapins before 52,413, the seventh-largest crowd in Byrd Stadium history.

Freshman Jason Gwaltney scored two touchdowns for the Mountaineers (3-0), who had lost three straight at Maryland (1-2) since 1997. West Virginia let a 15-point lead dwindle to 21-19 before Gwaltney scored on a 15-yard run with 4:56 left.

The Mountaineers then recovered a fumble by Maryland quarterback Sam Hollenbach, and Pat McAfee kicked a 40-yard field goal to make it 31-19 with 2:18 remaining.

Holding a 7-6 lead late in the third quarter, WVU went on an 80-yard scoring drive. Darius Reynaud gained 27 yards on a reverse, and Owen Schmitt capped the march with a 3-yard TD run with 14:52 remaining.

Schmitt had runs of 20 and 34 yards on the Mountaineers' next series, and Pernell Williams scored from the 1 to make it 21-6.

The lead held up - barely.

The Terrapins began their comeback with a 73-yard touchdown throw from Hollenbach to tight end Vemon Davis with 10:22 left. Davis caught the medium-length pass at the right sideline and easily outran the Mountaineers to the end zone.

Antonio Lewis fumbled away the kickoff, and Hollenbach converted the mistake into a 12-yard touchdown pass to Jo Jo Walker. But the conversion pass failed.

Hollenbach went 20-for-31 for 291 yards. Davis caught five passes for 158 yards, but the Terrapins could muster only 50 yards rushing against a defense that entered the game ranked No. 1 in the nation in yards allowed (128.5).

The Mountaineers led 7-3 at halftime.

Faced with a third-and-10 from his own 3 on the first play of the second quarter, Bednark completed a 48-yard pass to Brandon Myles. It was his only throw on the 15-play drive, which ended on a 1-yard touchdown run by Gwaltney for a 7-0 lead.

Walker returned the ensuing kickoff 57 yards to the West Virginia 36, but the drive fizzled when Maryland was stopped on a fourth-and-1 from the 27.

Late in the half, a 27-yard completion from Hollenbach to Danny Melendez set up a 33-yard field goal by Dan Ennis.

Maryland closed to 7-6 in the third quarter when Ennis kicked a 34-yard field goal four plays after the Terrapins converted a fourth-and-6 from the West Virginia 35. Hollenbach was 3-for-3 for 40 yards on the 45-yard drive.

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) -- Josh Wilson returned a fumble 20 yards for a touchdown to lead Maryland's solid defensive effort in a win over Wake Forest.

Keon Lattimore ran for 76 yards and the only offensive touchdown for the Terrapins (2-2, 1-Atlantic Coast Conference), who continued their recent dominance against the Demon Deacons (1-0-1). Maryland has won seven straight in the series.

Chris Barclay ran for 86 yards and a touchdown for Wake Forest, which fell behind 13-0 in the first half and never recovered.

Wake Forest came into the game averaging better than 270 yards rushing, tops in the conference and eighth-best in the nation. Micah Andrews led the league and ranked fourth nationally at 153 yards per game, while Barclay was coming off a 210-yard, four-touchdown game against East Carolina - part of a 407-yard rushing day for the Demon Deacons.

Meanwhile, the Terrapins came in rated last in the league in rushing defense after allowing Wake Virginia to run for 301 yards in last week's loss.

But things looked quite different Saturday for both teams, a welcome sight for the Terps.

Maryland allowed Wake Forest 111 yards rushing and 244 total yards, while recovering two fumbles and holding the Demon Deacons to 5-for-19 on third-down conversions. And except for Barclay's 4-yard scoring run late in the third, Wake Forest's offense seemed out of rhythm all day.

Andrews, meanwhile, wasn't a factor, finishing with six carries for 23 yards - all in the first half. He also had a costly fumble when he was hit from behind while scrambling for yards in the second quarter.

Wilson ran in and scooped up the loose ball in stride, racing down the left sideline for the touchdown and a 10-0 lead with 4 minutes left in the half. The Terrapins increased that lead on Dan Ennis' second field goal with 1:50 left, and led 13-3 at halftime after Sam Swank got the Demon Deacons on the board with a 42-yard kick on the final play of the half.

Wake Forest closed to within 16-10 on Barclay's run, but got no closer. The Terrapins responded two possessions later with a 77-yard touchdown drive, getting a 33-yard pass from Sam Hollenbach to Danny Melendez to set up Lattimore's 3-yard run for a 22-10 lead with 13:19 left.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) - Lance Ball ran for 163 yards and scored two fourth-quarter touchdowns, and Maryland passed 570 yards in offense to hand No. 19 Virginia its first defeat.

Sam Hollenbach went 25-for-33 for 320 yards and two touchdowns, and Danny Melendez had nine catches for 79 yards to lead the Terrapins (3-2, 2-1 Atlantic Coast Conference) to their third straight home win over Virginia (3-1, 1-1).

Marques Hagans threw for 270 yards and scored two rushing touchdowns for the Cavaliers, who also got four goals from Connor Hughes. Chris Cook also returned an interception 30 yards for a touchdown, but it wasn't enough.

Seeking to reverse their fortunes at home after losses to Clemson and West Virginia, the Terps wore their alternate black jerseys for Homecoming. Maryland's offense was more of a factor than the uniform switch, but whatever the reason, the Terrapins avoided their first 0-3 start at home since 1993.

The Terrapins trailed 26-24 before a 44-yard pass from Hollenbach to Demck Fenner set up a 14-yard touchdown by Ball on the opening play of the fourth quarter. Maryland then forced the Cavaliers to punt for the first time since 1993 in the first quarter.

Virginia appeared poised to get the ball back, but a pass interference call on Marcus Hamilton on a third-and-8 in the Maryland 8 extended the drive, and Ball ran in from the 35 to end the 94-yard march and put the Terrapins up 26 with 8:44 to go.

Hagans scored on a 3-yard run to pull Virginia to 38-33, but Maryland clinched the win with an 80-yard drive that included Keon Lattimore's second touchdown run, a 11-yard drive with 1:50 left.

Ball, who finished with 17 carries, ran for 93 yards in the second half to help Maryland take a 12-0 halftime lead.

After being intercepted by the Terrapins' second possession, Hollenbach capped a 32-yard drive with a 10-yard touchdown pass to Melendez. Hollenbach went 4-for-5 on the drive and also converted a fourth-and-1 from the Virginia 43 in a quarterback sneak.

The Cavaliers scored two touchdowns in a 71-second span to go up 14-7. After Hagans ran an 11-yard score to complete a drive in which he accounted for 69 yards, Cook got his first career interception return for a touchdown.

Lattimore tied it with a 10-yard TD run, but Hughes put Virginia back in front with a 43-yard field goal.

After Hollenbach went 5-for-5 for 62 yards on an 88-yard march that ended with a 24-yard TD pass to Vernon Davis, Hughes kicked a 39-yard field goal to make it 21-20.

The back-and-forth duel continued into the third quarter. Maryland's Dan Ennis kicked a 39-yard field goal on the opening drive, and Hughes answered with a 29-yarder to get Virginia back within a point.

The Cavaliers finally forced Maryland to punt, then took a 26-yard lead on Hughes' fourth field goal.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. -- Mano Merrills ran for three touchdowns as Maryland ran its winning streak to three games by scoring 38 unanswered points in a non-conference victory at Temple played before 11,311 at Lincoln Financial Field.

Merrills led a trio of Terrapin rushers who gained at least 50 yards, as the Terps rolled up 220 yards and five touchdowns on the ground. The senior had 66 yards on 12 carries and scored three straight TDs for the Terps in the second and third quarters.

Lance Ball added 54 yards and a touchdown on 11 carries, while J.P. Humber came off the bench for 53 yards in his first four rushes of the year.

Maryland quarterback Sam Hollenbach completed 19 of 29 passes for 228 yards to lead the Terps, while Vernon Davis and Danny Melendez each had five catches.

Temple took advantage of a Maryland fumble in the first quarter and drove 38 yards for the opening score. Umar Ferguson, who led all rushers in the game with 96 yards on 25 carries, scored for the Owls from 2 yards out to give the hosts a lead with 4:15 left in the first quarter.

Maryland responded immediately with a 73-yard scoring drive to set up a 24-yard field goal by Dan Ennis, who had his string of successful field goals ended at 11 later in the game.

The Terps' next drive ended in an interception in the Temple end zone, but Maryland rallied later in the second quarter to go 66 yards in seven plays to set up a 6-yard touchdown by Merrills, giving the Terps the lead with 5:36 before halftime. Merrills scored on a 1-yard run to cap a 67-yard drive on Maryland's next possession and the Terps took a 17-7 lead into halftime.

Josh Wilson blocked a Temple punt on the opening possession of the second half, setup up the Terps at the Temple 45-yard line. From there, the Terps needed five plays to score, as Merrills went over for the 2.

Again, Maryland scored on its next possession, using a 22-yard punt return from Jo Jo Walker to set up a 31-yard scoring drive that ended on a 1-yard dive by Hollenbach.

Ball ended the Maryland scoring early in the fourth quarter on a 5-yard run.

The Terrapin defense, led by nine tackles each from William Kershaw and Wesley Jefferson, forced four second-half turnovers from the Owls. Senior linebacker D'Owell Jackson, the leading tackler in the ACC coming into the game, did not play due to a leg injury.

#3/3 VIRGINIA TECH

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) - Marcus Vick ran for a career-high 133 yards and a touchdown and a strong defensive performance from No. 3 Virginia Tech helped the unbeaten Hokies pull away in the second half for a 28-9 win in a Thursday Night game at Byrd Stadium.

Mike Imoh had two touchdowns for Virginia Tech (7-0, 4-0 Atlantic Coast Conference), which scored 21 straight points after halftime to keep alive its hopes of playing for the national championship in January. The Terrapins (4-3, 2-2) came in with a three-game winning streak.

Although he threw a career-high three interceptions - all in the third quarter - the little brother of Atlanta Falcons star Michael Vick rushed 16 times for 133 yards and completed 14 of 23 passes for 211 yards.

His 8-yard touchdown run in the second quarter made it 7-0, and he directed scoring drives of 81, 99 and 37 yards in the second half.

That was more than enough support for a defense that forced two turnovers and kept the Terrapins out of the end zone until Sam Hollenbach threw a 10-yard touchdown pass to Derrick Fenner with 2:16 to go.

Hollenbach was 14-of-30 for 158 yards and two interceptions, and Lance Ball had 75 yards rushing on 15 attempts.

The Terrapins wore their alternate black jerseys for the second time this season, hoping for the same result as the last time: a 45-33 victory over Virginia on Oct. 1.

The Hokies scored on their first possession of the third quarter to take a 14-3 lead. A 38-yard run by Vick got Tech to the Maryland 31, and five plays later Imoh scored from the 2.

The teams then traded interceptions before Maryland missed a field goal attempt.

After the Terrapins failed to capitalize on Vick's third interception, a punt left Virginia Tech on its own 1. Ten plays later, Imoh ran in from the 10 to make it 21-3 with 10:45 left.

Brandon Ore added a 4-yard TD run with 6:47 to go.

Maryland threatened first, moving to the Tech 21 in the first quarter before James Anderson intercepted Hollenbach at the 12.

The Hokies ran only 11 plays and had minus-2 yards rushing during a scoreless first period, the only quarter this season in which Virginia Tech has failed to score.

Vick finally got the offense moving on Tech's third possession. He began an 80-yard drive with an 18-yard completion to David Clowney, then added four runs for 43 yards, including a sprint around right end for a touchdown.

The next time Tech got the ball, Vick completed a 48-yard pass to Clowney to set up a first-and-goal at the 7. On fourth down from the 1, Imoh lost possession of the ball while trying to dive over the top and Maryland recovered - the first time this season Tech lost a fumble.

The Terrapins then moved 73 yards in 13 plays before Ennis kicked a 38-yard field goal and Maryland was within 7-3 at halftime.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) - Drew Weatherford and James Coleman scored fourth-quarter touchdowns to lead No. 10 Florida State to a come-from-behind victory over Maryland.

Weatherford's 15-yard run with 8:52 left gave the Seminoles a 28-27 lead and they scored three minutes later on Coleman's 1-yard run. Coleman's score was set up by Ernie Sims' interception.

Maryland's final bid for a tie ended with 52 seconds left when Joel Statham was sacked by A. Nicholson at the Florida State 40.

The Seminoles avoided losing to the Terps for a second straight year.

Maryland (4-4, 2-3) scored 24 straight points midway through the game, building a 24-14 lead on Dan Ennis' 40-yard field goal three minutes into the second half.

But the Seminoles turned to their favorite weapon, freshman wide receiver Greg Carr, to get back into the game.

The 6-foot-6 Carr caught a 37-yard pass to the Maryland 1 and then, after two plays lost yards, he broke open in the end zone to snag a 4-yard scoring pass to cut Maryland's lead to 24-21.

After Ennis kicked a 35-yard field goal to start the fourth quarter and give the Terrapins a 27-2 lead, Carr was again center stage.

Leon Washington scored on a 3-yard run on Florida State's first offensive series and Willie Reid added a 61-yard punt return TD to give the Seminoles a 14-0 lead in the opening minute of the second quarter.

But Maryland countered with three touchdowns in a span of nine minutes to take a 21-14 halftime lead. Statham ran for a score and added touchdown passes covering 29 yards to Derrick Fenner and 20 yards to Jo Jo Walker.

Statham, who sparked Maryland's 20-17 victory over Florida State a year ago, completed 15 of 29 passes for 177 yards.

Weatherford, a redshirt freshman leading the ACC in passing, completed 27 of 37 passes for 264 yards, but was intercepted twice. Reid had seven catches for 90 yards and finished with 227 all purpose yards.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) - Dan Ennis kicked a 28-yard field goal in overtime to give Maryland a victory over North Carolina.

The Terrapins (5-4, 3-3 Atlantic Coast Conference) bolstered their bowl hopes by rallying from a 10-point deficit with 9 minutes to play. Lance Ball ran for 161 yards and a touchdown, while Vernon Davis had seven catches for 139 yards and a score.

Connor Barth - who kicked the tying field goal with 9 seconds left in regulation - missed a 38-yarder in the second part of the overtime for the Tar Heels (4-5, 3-3).

Matt Baker threw for 335 yards, while Jesse Holley had six catches for 115 yards for the Tar Heels.

Both teams came into Kenan Stadium needing the win for their postseason push. But Maryland leaves heading to beat either Boston College at home next week or win at North Carolina State in the season finale to earn its sixth win.

Sam Hollenbach threw two long touchdown passes - the second 80 yards to Danny Melendez - to help Maryland rally and take a 30-27 lead. The Tar Heels responded, moving 76 yards in the 2-minute drill to set up Barth's 24-yard field goal.

But after Ennis' kick to start the overtime, the Tar Heels had a chance to win the game when Holley headed alone for the end zone. But Baker's throw was late, and Gernck McPhearson got there just in time to tip the ball away.

Barth - who kicked the game-winner on the final play of last year's upset of unbeaten Miami - then shot onto the field looking for his fourth field goal. But a high snap appeared to take him out of rhythm, and the kick went wide right as the Terrapins spilled on the field in celebration.

The Tar Heels led 20-17 when Baker connected with a diving Mike Mason for a 19-yard touchdown late in the third quarter, and Warren Taylor returned an interception 25 yards for a touchdown and a 27-17 lead with 9:07 left in the fourth.

But Hollenbach led the Terps to a quick response, facing a third-and-long, the quarterback sidestepped an oncoming rusher and hit Jo Jo Walker deep for a 7-yard touchdown. Then, after a North Carolina punt, Hollenbach again went deep, this time to Melendez for the long score down the right sideline and a 30-27 lead.

Ennis hit the left upright in this point after, which would have given the Terps a two-point lead. That allowed North Carolina to force the overtime on Barth's kick.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) - Jolonn Dunbar scored on a 94-yard fumble return, Ray Henderson took an interception 35 yards for a touchdown, and the No. 23 Boston College Eagles overcame four turnovers but forced four from Maryland in a victory.

BC got two touchdowns apiece from its offense and defense. Matt Ryan completed 16 of 24 passes for 230 yards, and Andre Callender had 121 yards rushing for the Eagles, who never trailed in their regular-season finale.

Playing in its first year in the Atlantic Coast Conference, Boston College (8-3, 5-3) finished tied with Florida State atop the Atlantic Division. But the Seminoles will advance to the title game by virtue of their 28-17 win over the Eagles in September.

Lance Ball ran for 135 yards and a touchdown for Maryland (5-5, 3-4), which still needs one win to become eligible to receive a bowl bid. The Terrapins conclude the regular season next week at NC State.

Dunbar's school-record fumble return gave Boston College a 14-0 lead in the first quarter. The sophomore linebacker picked up the ball in stride and sprinted down the right sideline, outdistancing Maryland wide receiver Danny Melendez, who was screened by BC safety Larry Anam.

Henderson's touchdown came with 4:36 left after the Terrapins closed to 24-16.

Maryland quarterback Sam Hollenbach went 25-for-45 for 230 yards and a touchdown.

Boston College also gave the ball away four times, but the Terrapins didn't capitalize on their takeaways as well as the Eagles.

The Terrapins trailed 14-10 at halftime, and after a scoreless third quarter, Boston College went up 21-10 on a 1-yard touchdown run by L.V. Whitworth with 10:57 left.

A 65-yard run by Ball set up a 7-yard touchdown pass from Hollenbach to Vernon Davis, and after a Boston College field goal, Henderson made his victory-clinching play.

The Eagles took the opening kickoff and moved 79 yards in eight plays to take a 7-0 lead. After Whitworth ran four times for 19 yards and gained 34 yards on a screen pass, Callender scored on a 14-yard run.

Josh Wilson blocked a punt for Maryland at the end of the Eagles' next possession, and the Terrapins advanced to the 5 before Dunbar picked up a fumble on a third-down play. Another mistake by the Eagles' special teams enabled Maryland to close to 14-7. After Dejuan Tnbble fumbled a punt at the BC 20, Hollenbach completed a 14-yard pass to Melendez on third-and-10 before Ball ran it in from the 6.

Minutes later, Maryland botched an excellent chance to pull even. Hollenbach moved the Terps 56 yards to the BC 8, then threw a pass in the end zone that was picked off by Eagles linebacker Jamie Silva.

But Maryland closed to 14-10 on a 27-yard field goal by Dan Ennis with 1:53 left in the half.

MARYLAND 14
NC STATE 20

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) - Toney Baker had the go-ahead touchdown on a 1-yard leap over the pile, Marcus Hudson returned one of his two interceptions 28 yards for a clinching score and North Carolina State beat Maryland in the ACC regular-season finale for both teams.

Mano Williams tied his own school record with four sacks for the Wolfpack (6-5, 3-5 Atlantic Coast Conference), who allowed a total of minus-6 yards in the third quarter.

The Terrapins (5-6, 3-5) were hampered by repeated turnovers and other mistakes down the stretch.

With Maryland trailing 10-7 in the fourth quarter, Hollenbach tried to connect with Danny Melendez, but Williams forced him to throw early Hudson stepped in front of Melendez and ripped the ball out of his hands, then sprinted up the sideline with his first interception of the season.

That made it 17-7, and on the next possession, Williams sacked Hollenbach and forced a fumble, with defensive tackle DeMano Pressley recovering for the Wolfpack. When the Terps held, John Deraney came on for a 29-yard field goal to increase the margin to 20-7.

Hollenbach bounced back to lead Maryland on a 75-yard drive to pull within 20-14, finishing it off with a scoring toss to tight end Vernon Davis that covered 15 yards. But NC State held on for its fourth win in the final five games when Hudson intercepted another of Hollenbach's passes with 34 seconds left.

Hollenbach was 20-for-35 for 235 yards.

Maryland completely controlled the first half, yet led only 7-3 after Dan Ennis hooked two field goals wide left. And the only points for NC State - a 38-yard field goal by Deraney - came after Jo Jo Walker bobbled a punt into the hands of Hudson.

The Wolfpack needed to drive 13 yards to take a 3-0 lead. They struggled offensively in the opening half and finished with only 39 yards on 21 plays.

THE ATLANTIC COAST CONFERENCE

THE TRADITION

John Swofford,
ACC Commissioner

Consistency. It is the mark of true excellence in any endeavor. However, in today's intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Now in its 54th year of competition, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

Since the league's inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 100 national championships, including 52 in women's competition and 48 in men's. In addition, NCAA individual titles have gone to ACC student-athletes 130 times in men's competition and 71 times in women's action.

The conference had an immediate impact on the national college football scene in the fall of 1953 when the University of Maryland captured the first of what would eventually be five national football titles for the ACC. Clemson laid claim to the league's second national title in 1981 while Georgia Tech followed suit in 1990. Florida State pocketed national titles No. 4 and 5 in 1993 and 1999, respectively.

In addition, Miami has laid claim to five national gridiron titles over the past 22 seasons. Four of the Hurricanes' five national titles (1983, 1987, 1989, 2001) were unanimous with both the sportswriters and coaches polls in agreement, while in 1991 Miami (AP) shared the national title with Washington (coaches).

This past season an all-time high 14 ACC players earned first team All-America recognition while two others garnered second team honors. The 12 institutions that take to the field this fall under the ACC banner have produced 513 first or second team gridiron All-Americans and 71 first-team academic All-Americans.

Led by NC State junior Mario Williams, the first overall selection, the ACC set an NCAA record with 12 players selected in the first round of the 2006 NFL draft. Williams was the first ACC player to be the NFL's first overall selection. Seven of the top 15, and 15 of the first 37 players drafted were from the ACC and the conference led all conferences with a league-record 51 players selected over the seven rounds.

The 12 current ACC schools have had 2,093 players selected in the annual professional football draft, including 204 first round selections.

If success is best measured in terms of wins and losses, then the ACC over the years has proved itself to be among the elite in Division I-A football. The ACC is the nation's winningest bowl conference as the 12 current league teams are a combined 139-119-5 (.538) in post-season play.

Following its 5-3 bowl mark in 2005, the ACC is the only conference to post a .500-or-better record in post-season play in each of the past five seasons. Since 2001, the ACC is 21-12 in post-season play and has the best bowl winning percentage (.636) among all BCS conferences.

In 2002, the ACC set an NCAA record when seven of its nine teams (78%) received bowl bids.

Georgia Tech and Boston College are tied for the second-best bowl game winning percentages in Division I-A history. The Yellow Jackets are 22-12 (.636) while the Eagles are 11-6. Florida State 20-13-2 (.600) is eighth.

For the first time in ACC history, league schools surpassed the 3.8 million mark in total attendance in 2005. Over 73 home games, ACC teams drew 3,835,260 fans, breaking the existing record of 3,693,032 set in 2004.

2005-06 IN REVIEW

The 2005-06 academic year concluded with the league pocketing an all-time high six national team titles and 15 individual NCAA crowns. In all, the ACC has won 57 national team titles over the last 16 years. The ACC has won two or more NCAA titles in 24 of the past 26 years.

The 12 sports for men include football, cross country, soccer, basketball, swimming, indoor and outdoor track, wrestling, baseball, tennis, golf and lacrosse. Fencing, which was started in 1971, was discontinued in 1981.

Women's sports were initiated in 1977 with the first championship meet being held in tennis at Wake Forest University.

Championships for women are currently conducted in cross country, volleyball, field hockey, soccer, basketball, swimming, indoor and outdoor track, tennis, golf, lacrosse, softball and rowing.

A HISTORY

The Atlantic Coast Conference was founded on May 8, 1953, at the Sedgefield Inn near Greensboro, N.C., with seven charter members, Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, NC State, South Carolina and Wake Forest, drawing up the conference by-laws.

The withdrawal of seven schools from the Southern Conference came early on the morning of May 8, 1953, during the Southern Conference's annual spring meeting. On June 14, 1953, the seven members met in Raleigh, N.C., where a set of bylaws was adopted and the name became officially the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Suggestions from fans for the name of the new conference appeared in the regional newspapers prior to the meeting in Raleigh. Some of the names suggested were: Dixie, Mid South, Mid Atlantic, East Coast, Seaboard, Colonial, Tobacco, Blue-Gray, Piedmont, Southern Seven and the Shoreline.

Duke's Eddie Cameron recommended that the name of the conference be the Atlantic Coast Conference, and the motion was passed unanimously. The meeting concluded with each member institution assessed $200.00 to pay for conference expenses.

On December 4, 1953, conference officials met again at Sedgefield and officially admitted the University of Virginia as the league's eighth member. The first and only withdrawal of a school from the ACC came on June 30, 1971, when the University of South Carolina tendered its resignation.

The ACC operated with seven members until April 3, 1978, when the Georgia Institute of Technology was admitted. The Atlanta school had withdrawn from the Southeastern Conference in January of 1964.

The ACC expanded to nine members on July 1, 1991, with the addition of Florida State University.

The conference expanded to 11 members on July 1, 2004, with the addition of the University of Miami and Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. On October 17, 2003, Boston College accepted an invitation to become the league's 12th member on July 1, 2005.

MARYLAND 20 GEORGIA 20

In front of the first capacity crowd in Gator Bowl history, 16,666, Maryland's Lu Gambino was a one-man wrecking crew, rushing for 165 yards and scoring three touchdowns. Gambino's three scores propelled Maryland to a 20-7 lead, but Georgia reeled off 13 points in the fourth quarter to tie the game. The Bulldogs threatened to win the game in the closing seconds, but time ran out with Georgia on Maryland's four-yard line. Despite the tie, there was no question as to the game's most valuable player. Gambino won the Burkhalter Award, signifying the game's outstanding performer. Gambino was inducted into the Gator Bowl Hall of Fame in 1992.

MARYLAND 20 MISSOURI 7

Three times in the first half Missouri turned the ball over, and all three times Maryland scored a touchdown as the Terrapins defeated the Tigers, 20-7, to earn their first-ever postseason victory. The Terrapin running attack, led by Bob Shemonski and Ed Modzelewski, amassed 266 rushing yards, the second-most by a Maryland bowl team. Maryland defensive back John Idzik set up Maryland's first score with a 26-yard interception return to the Tiger 11-yard line. Shemonski scored on a sweep the next play for the go-ahead touchdown. Shemonski scored again on a six-yard run late in the second quarter to put the Terps up 20-0.

What may have been perhaps the biggest win in Maryland football history, the Terps upset No. 1-ranked and regular season national champion Tennessee, 28-13, in the 1952 Sugar Bowl. The Terps were led by running back Ed "Mighty" Modzelewski (153 yards on 28 carries) and the brilliant play of running back/defensive back Ed Fullerton who scored two touchdowns and threw for another. The Terps put the game out of reach in the third quarter with a 46-yard interception for a touchdown by Fullerton, giving the Terps a 28-6 lead. Maryland finished the season with an overall record of 10-0-0 and a No. 1 national ranking.

This was the first game of the contract that pitted the Big Eight Conference champion against the Atlantic Coast Conference champion. The Terrapins took an undefeated season and the nation's No. 1 ranking into the game against an Oklahoma squad that used a powerful running attack to grind out a second quarter touchdown to propel the Sooners to a 7-0 win. Twice the Terps had first down opportunities with the ball inside the 10-yard line and failed to come away with any points. Despite the narrow loss, the Terrapins claimed the 1953 national championship.

The third-ranked Terps came into the Orange Bowl riding a 15-game winning streak, only to have it snapped by an Oklahoma team that extended its winning streak to 30 games with its 20-6 win. Ed Vereb, who scored the Terps' lone touchdown, finished with 108 rushing yards. Maryland was hurt by five turnovers.

Maryland came away from its first bowl game in 18 years a bitterly disappointed team. The Terrapins dominated Georgia in all phases, but the game was tied 10-10 at the half thanks to a couple of big plays by the Bulldogs. The Maryland defense, led by All-ACC defensive tackle Randy White, shut out Tennessee for nearly four quarters but lost the game when the Volunteers' quarterback, Randy Wallace, found Larry Seivers for an 11-yard touchdown pass with 2:08 to play. The ACC champion Terrapins headed into the 1975 Gator Bowl as a seven-point underdog to the Florida Gators. However, this did not deter the Terps, who were coming off their best season (8-2-1) in 20 years. Maryland shut out the Gators, 13-0, in front of a large pro-Florida crowd in steady downpour. The Maryland defense held the SEC total offense leader scoreless and intercepted two Florida passes which led to the first 10 Maryland points. This was the first Terp win over an SEC team since 1955.

Jim Tatum and a collection of new players lifted Maryland to its first ranking in the AP poll. Newcomers such as Ed Modzelewski, Bob Ward, Bob Shemonski and junior All-America tackle Ray Krouse were instrumental in leading the Terrapins to eight decisive regular season victories, losing only to No. 13 Michigan State, 14-7. The Terps plowed through the opposition, and after beating No. 15 Boston U. by a 14-13 count, earned the No. 15 poll position themselves. Maryland ended the regular season with a 13-0 shutout at Miami. The Terps earned their first bowl victory with a 20-7 rout of Missouri in the Gator Bowl.

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE CO-CHAMPIONS

Maryland completed its only undefeated season in history and clobbered top-ranked and heavily favored Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl to lay its own claim to a national crown. Led by All-America tackles Bob Ward and Ray Krouse, brothers Ed and Dick Modzelewski, and QB Jack Scarbath, Maryland accepted a Sugar Bowl invitation against the recommendation of Southern Conference presidents who sought for all league institutions to boycott the bowls. The Terps were decided underdogs against No. 1 Tennessee, but Ed "Mighty Mo" Modzelewski's 153 rushing yards and a 28-13 victory prompted Tennessee coach Bob Neyland to state, "We were soundly beaten by a superior team."

1952 RANKED 13TH

The amazing win streak continued in 1952, but it ended abruptly and Maryland was kept out of a bowl game despite its No. 13 final ranking. The Terps had amassed 19 straight wins and 22 straight games without a defeat before falling 21-14 at Mississippi on Nov. 15. The end came in the eighth game of a schedule that was revised heavily after Southern Conference members refused to play Maryland because the Terps had chosen to play in the previous season's Sugar Bowl. Ole Miss scored a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns to upend the Terps, and Maryland fell 27-7 to Alabama the following week to quell any hopes of a bowl bid. Bernie Faloney and Jack Scarbath both were All-Americans and Scarbath, a preseason favorite to win the Heisman Trophy, finished second in the balloting.

1953 NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

ACC CO-CHAMPIONS

College Park is home to the nation's No. 1 football team. The Maryland gridiron swept past its 10 regular-season opponents with a perfect record and, also doing, scored a total of 298 points while limiting its opposition to a total of 31. Coach Jim Tatum was named the national coach of the year and many Old Line players were selected to various all-star teams. Operating out of the split T, Maryland ranked sixth in the nation in total offense with a 359.5-yard average. On defense, the team yielded only 193.2 yards per game and led the country in rushing (83.9) and scoring defense (3.1). During the '53 campaign, the Terps made up for two defeats handed them in 1952 by decisively beating Mississippi and Alabama. After the Terps downed Miami 30-0, Hurricanes coach Andy Gustafson summed up the nation's top team by saying, "Maryland has one of the greatest teams I've ever seen." Maryland began the season with a No. 9 preseason ranking by the Associated Press and took over the top spot in the polls on the final week of the regular season after the No. 2 Terps waxed the No. 11 Crimson Tide, 21-7. The top-ranked and undefeated Terps tied No. 18 Duke for the inaugural Orange Bowl title, but fell to 10-1 after losing the Orange Bowl to Oklahoma, 7-0.

Entering the season ranked No. 3 in the nation, the Terps began the 1954 campaign in convincing style, shutting out Kentucky 24-0 in their season opener. But the Terps stumbled in their next game, losing a close 12-7 decision to fourth-ranked UCLA. That dropped Maryland to No. 13 in the polls heading into its ACC matchup vs. Wake Forest. A 13-13 tie with the Demon Deacons sent the Terps tumbling out of the national rankings for the first time since 1950. Maryland rebounded to shut out North Carolina 33-0 before dropping a 9-7 road decision to Miami. The Terps went on to win their final five games by a combined score of 200-33, including a 74-13 Thanksgiving Day shellacking of Missouri. Maryland finished the season with a No. 8 national ranking.

Jerry Claiborne's second season as Maryland coach lifted the Terps to a 11-1 mark in the ACC, and their first national ranking in 12 seasons. The Terps were 5-3 after a 42-22 loss to No. 6 Penn State, but three decisive wins over Virginia, Clemson and Tulane earned Maryland a bid to its first bowl game since the 1956 Orange Bowl. Maryland dominated Georgia in the Peach Bowl, outgaining the Bulldogs 461 to 284 on offense and driving inside the Georgia 20-yard line seven times. Four turnovers proved costly, however, and after a 10-10 tie at intermission, all Maryland could muster were a pair of fourth-quarter field goals by Steve Mike-Mayer. Defensive tackle Randy White earned the first of his two All-America awards.

Junior quarterback Boomer Esiason led the Terrapins and first-year head coach Bobby Ross to a seven-game midseason win streak which earned Maryland its first national ranking in two seasons. After early season losses at No. 7 Penn State and No. 17 West Virginia, Maryland scored points at will while rolling through its ACC schedule. The Terrapins' 31-point average was second only to its undefeated season of 1951, and Ross was named the national coach of the year by the Washington Touchdown Club. A 31-24 win at No. 10 North Carolina put Maryland back in the rankings, and another shootout with Clemson would determine the ACC champion. No. 16 Maryland was invited to the inaugural Aloha Bowl in Honolulu where it surrendered a last-second touchdown to No. 9 Washington, losing 21-20.

TERPS IN THE HALL OF FAME

JERRY CLAIBORNE

National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame (1999)

Former Maryland football coach Jerry Claiborne was selected to join 12 legendary college football players and two other coaches among the 1999 class of inductees into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame.

Claiborne coached 28 seasons overall between stints at Virginia Tech (1961-70), Maryland (1972- 81) and Kentucky (1982-89), and compiled a 179-122-8 record in the process.

At Maryland, Claiborne was named The Sporting News National Coach of the Year in 1974 after winning the Atlantic Coast Conference and finishing the season ranked No. 13 by the Associated Press. He was the District III Coach of the Year in 1973, 1975 and 1976.

In all, Claiborne was the coach of the year in three different conferences --- Southern (1963), ACC (1973, '75, '76) and Southeastern (1983) --- while leading his teams to 11 bowl games. Throughout his coaching career, he was a strong advocate of the right combination of academics and athletics. In his years as head coach, he had four players named Academic All-America and 87 players earn academic all-conference honors. On the field, he coached 13 All-Americans and 53 who earned all-conference status.

DICK MODZELEWSKI

National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame (1993)

Through three All-America years at Maryland and 14 All-Pro years in the National Football League, Dick Modzelewski was always "Little Mo." At 6-0, 235 pounds during his playing days at Maryland, he was one of the bigger collegiate linemen during the early 1950s. He was the second Mo at Maryland, following his older brother Ed, "Big Mo."

Dick Modzelewski played three years at defensive tackle for the Terps on the great teams which were 24-4-1. He became Maryland's first winner of a major national honor when he received the Outland Trophy as the nation's top lineman in 1952. Through his career at Maryland, the Terps fashioned a 22-game unbeaten streak.

At the end of his senior season, Modzelewski was named to every All-America team. He was a second-round draft choice of the Washington Redskins. He spent 14 seasons in the NFL, with the Redskins, the Pittsburgh Steelers, the New York Giants and Cleveland Browns. Modzelewski was an All-Pro and on NFL championship teams with both the Giants (1956) and the Browns (1964).

Dick Modzelewski was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame in 1993.

STAN JONES

Pro Football Hall of Fame (1991) National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame (2000)

Stan Jones was the starting right tackle on the Terp defense that allowed only 31 points during 10 regular season games in 1953. With Jones leading the way, Maryland recorded six shutouts and allowed only one team, Georgia, to score more than six points.

It all added up to a 10-0 regular-season for the Terps, who captured the national championship despite an upset loss to Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl.

Jones earned consensus All-America honors in 1953 and was chosen "Outstanding College Lineman of 1953" by the College Football Coaching Board. A fifth-round draft choice of the Chicago Bears, Jones went on to have a lengthy pro career. He spent a majority of his career with the Bears (1954-65) before finishing at Washington (1966).

"I was very prepared for the NFL when I left Maryland," Jones said. "From my coaches who taught me football to my professors who taught me anatomy, physiology and weight training, I received a great education. I couldn't have picked a better place to go."

Jones was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1991 and selected for the College Football Hall of Fame in 2000.

BOB PELLEGRINI

National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame (1996)

Bob Pellegrini was recruited to Maryland as a quarterback, but made his name as one of college football's best linemen. In his first season, Pellegrini was a 6-2, 215-pound sophomore guard for the 1953 national champion Terrapins. He would play guard again in 1954 in an era when players went both ways, before switching to center for his senior year to fill a Terrapin void.

As a senior, Pellegrini led Maryland to its second 10-0 regular season and ACC championship in three years as the Terps defeated defending national champion UCLA. He was selected ACC Player of the Year, named consensus All-American and pictured as Herman Hickman's cover boy for Lineman of the Year in 1955.

Pellegrini led the Terps to a 27-4-1 record over his career, with rankings in the Top 10 each season. He was the first pick in the National Football League draft by the Philadelphia Eagles. Pellegrini became one of the building blocks of an Eagle turnaround that took the team to the top of the football world. A losing team when he joined, the Eagles defeated Vince Lombardi's Green Bay Packers for the World Championship four years later with Bob Pellegrini at linebacker.

Pellegrini was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame December 1996.

JACK SCARBATH

National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame (1983)

Jack Scarbath is an integral part of Maryland football history. In his first start, an All-America quarterback scored the first touchdown in the new Byrd Stadium, a 21-yard run in the first game of the 1950 season.

Scarbath was the quarterback for head coach Jim Tatum's new split T offense for three seasons (1950-52). Scarbath led the Terps to a 24-4-1 record, including a perfect 10-0 season and a 28-13 upset of national champion Tennessee in the 1951 Sugar Bowl. Scarbath called the signals during Maryland's 22-game unbeaten streak over the course of the 1950, '51 and '52 seasons.

During his stellar career, Scarbath rewrote the Terrapin record book, completing 125 of 260 passes for 2,287 yards, an average of 18.3 yards per completion. In 1951, AP and UPI voters named him honorable mention All-American. In 1952, he was honored with first team All-America citations from AP, UPI, International News Service, Colliers, and Look. He finished runner-up to Oklahoma's Billy Vessels in the 1952 Heisman Trophy balloting.

A first-round draft choice of the Washington Redskins, Scarbath went on to play with the Redskins and Pittsburgh Steelers.

He was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame in 1983.

BOB WARD

National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame (1980)

Bob Ward weighed all of 165 pounds throughout his four-year playing career at Maryland and, even in the early 1950s, that was no size for a lineman. Especially a lineman who was a first team All-America middle guard on defense as a junior in 1950 and a first team offensive guard as a senior in 1951.

The forte of the Maryland teams of the early 1950s was consistency—a winning consistency. During Ward's four years, the team was a combined 32-7-1, winning two bowl games (1949 Gator over Missouri, 1951 Sugar over Tennessee to complete a perfect 10-0 season).

The awards and honors Ward earned as a Maryland player belie physical stature, but speak volumes about the man. He was the MVP of the 1949 Gator Bowl, Maryland's first bowl victory. He was the only player ever to earn All-America honors as both an offensive and defensive position player. He earned Southern Conference Player of the Year honors as a senior and was chosen Lineman of the Year by the Washington Touchdown Club and the Philadelphia Sportswriters Association in 1951.

Bob Ward was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame in 1980.

JIM TATUM

National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame (1984)

In a brief time as a college football head coach — one season at North Carolina (1942, 2-2), one at Oklahoma (1946, 8-3, Gator Bowl victory over North Carolina State) and one year at Maryland (1947-55, 73-15-4, 2-2 in bowl games) — Jim Tatum had become a coaching legend.

Tatum's Maryland teams from 1950-55 were 51-8-2, with a perfect 10-0 record and Sugar Bowl victory in 1951. The squad posted 10-0 regular-season records in 1953 and 1955 before both teams were upset by Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl. Tatum's 1953 team was declared national champion, and Tatum was named national Coach of the Year.

During his career at Maryland, Tatum led the Terps to 19 consecutive wins and an unbeaten streak of 22 games (21-0-1) during the 1950, '51 and '52 campaigns. In the 1952 Sugar Bowl, the Terrapins defeated top-ranked Tennessee 23-13.

Tatum left Maryland following the 1955 season to return to his alma mater, North Carolina. He coached the Tar Heels for three more seasons.

He was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame in 1984.

RANDY WHITE

Pro Football Hall of Fame (1994) National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame (1994)

Randy White changed the look of football's defensive lines. At Maryland, and later in an All-Pro National Football League career with the Dallas Cowboys, he was regarded as the quickest defensive lineman to play the game. He could be in an opponent's backfield before a quarterback could make a hand-off.

In 1974, White cleaned up the college football awards plate. He was honored with the Outland and Lombardi trophies as the top collegiate lineman, was ACC Player of the Year, was an unanimous first-team All-America choice, named the Delaware (his home state) Athlete of the Year and named the Amateur Athlete of the Year by the Philadelphia Sportswriters Association.

A first round draft choice of the Dallas Cowboys, White was an All-Pro performer throughout his career and shared Super Bowl MVP honors with Dallas teammate Harvey Martin when the Cowboys defeated Denver in Super Bowl XII.

White's jersey number, 94, has been retired at Maryland. He was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame and the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1994.

LEFRAK SCHOLARSHIP

The Samuel J. and Ethel LeFrak Foundation donated $1 million in 2003 to establish the Samuel J. LeFrak Scholars Fund at the University of Maryland.

The gift will fund annual LeFrak Scholars in the sports of men's basketball, football and men's track. Beginning in 2004-05, the three LeFrak scholarships have been awarded annually, concurrently and in perpetuity to three student-athletes who exhibit extraordinary athletic ability, leadership and academic achievement.

Men's basketball player Nik Caner-Medley was the first-ever recipient of the LeFrak Scholarship at Maryland for the 2003-04 season and Sean Lowe earned the honor for men's track.

Punter Adam Podlesh is this year's recipient from the football team.

Prior to his death in April 2003, Samuel J. LeFrak, a 1940 graduate of the University of Maryland and one of its most distinguished alumni, was chairman of the Lefrak Organization, one of the world's largest private development companies. The firm's accomplishments include building Lefrak City, a community of apartments, stores and office buildings in Queens, N.Y.; and creating and developing Battery Park City in New York City, as well as Newport, a $10 billion mixed-use community in New Jersey on 600 acres overlooking the Hudson River.

Adam Podlesh

While a student at Maryland, LeFrak was a varsity track letterman, president of the Latch Key Honor Society, and an officer of his class and of Tau Epsilon Phi.

"In keeping with Dr. LeFrak's dedicated support of the university for more than 60 years, the foundation is happy to sustain his wishes to help the school in its many endeavors to maintain high scholastic and athletic standards," said Deborah Dolan, director of the LeFrak Foundation.

Said athletics director Deborah A. Yow, "The LeFrak scholar-athletes will serve as role models to young people across the country. We are very grateful for the generosity of Dr. and Mrs. LeFrak."

FRANK REICH KING OF THE COMEBACK

When it comes to engineering record-setting comeback victories, no one has done it better than Maryland's Frank Reich, who was at the controls for the greatest comebacks in NCAA and NFL history.

Reich's first encounter with greatness occurred as a senior in 1984, when he came off the bench to lead the Terps to what then ranked as the biggest comeback in NCAA history. Down 31-0 at halftime to the defending national champion Miami Hurricanes, head coach Bobby Ross inserted Reich into the lineup in place of Stan Gelbaugh, and Reich proceeded to complete 12 of 16 passes for 260 yards and three touchdowns in propelling the Terps to a 42-40 victory in the Orange Bowl.

Eight years later, on Jan. 3, 1993, Reich met destiny again as he led the Buffalo Bills to the greatest comeback in pro football annals. As in the Miami game in 1984, Reich came off the bench and performed his heroics against a top-notch opponent. This time the foe was the Houston Oilers, who appeared on their way to an easy playoff win by building a 35-3 lead early in the second half.

Reich, however, wasn't deterred. Filling in for the injured Jim Kelly, he demonstrated grace under fire by throwing for a career-high 289 yards and four touchdowns as the Bills went on to win 41-38 in overtime.

YEAR-BY-YEAR RESULTS

Game-by-game results for every Maryland football season since 1892. Maryland was known as Maryland Agricultural College from 1892-1915, and as Maryland State College from 1916-1919. Maryland's conference affiliations: Atlantic Coast Conference since 1953, Southern Conference from 1921-51 (SC standings not available from 1921-32) and South Atlantic Intercollegiate Athletic Association in 1920.

Home games were played at Byrd Field or "Old" Byrd Stadium, across the street from the campus on Baltimore Ave., from 1923-1947 and again in 1949. Home games in 1948 were played at Griffith Stadium in Washington, D.C. Home games since 1950 have been played at Byrd Stadium on campus.

Home, road and neutral records are in parentheses (H, A, N). Maryland and opponent Associated Press rankings are in brackets — AP polls began in 1936. From 1961-1967, the Associated Press ranked only the nation's top 10 teams

^{HC} — indicates homecoming games

“STRIVE FOR CLARITY, BUT ACCEPT AND UNDERSTAND AMBIGUITY.”

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Thirteen years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland “aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment.”

As we learn with and from one another, we try to “develop human values,” “celebrate tolerance and fairness,” “contribute to the social conscience,” “monitor and assess private and collective assumptions,” and “recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition.”

Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are “educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions and accept ambiguity.”

AND WE ALSO HOPE YOU ENJOY THE JOURNEY.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

The Campus

By virtually every measure of quality, the University of Maryland has gained national recognition as one of the fastest-rising comprehensive research institutions in the country. The momentum of recent years has poised the university to move it into the top ranks of higher education and take leadership in shaping the research university of the 21st century.

The university has enjoyed a decade of momentum in all of the areas that affect quality. The average high school GPA of entering students has zoomed from 3.01 to nearly 3.90, and the average SATs are now more than 1270. The student body is a model of diversity, with minorities making up more than 33 percent of all students, and at least one graduate and undergraduate student from every state in the nation.

The university has 79 graduate and undergraduate programs ranked in the Top 25 by U.S. News and World Report, up from just one program in 1991.

Sponsored research and outreach has nearly tripled in the same 10-year period, exceeding $350 million last year. Private giving also has increased, and the university last year concluded its first campaign by topping its $350 million goal by more than $100 million. Alumni Association membership has been growing at an average rate of 10 percent a year since 1992.

One of the largest research universities in the United States, Fall 2005 enrollment was 25,442 undergraduate and 9,927 graduate students. There are 94 undergraduate programs, 89 master's programs, 70 doctoral programs and one first professional degree program. More than 100 centers and institutes are engaged in research and outreach.

Faculty at the University of Maryland, in all fields of knowledge, are engaged at the highest levels of national and international concern. The university's location near the center of federal policy-making and international political and economic activity enables it to play an active role in research and analysis of public policy.

Maryland is one of 30 public universities in the prestigious 63-member Association of American Universities and the only public institution in the Maryland-D.C. area with membership in the nation's most distinguished honor society, Phi Beta Kappa.

Did You Know?

In 1991, Maryland had one program listed among Top 25 entrants in the U.S. News & World Report Rankings. Maryland now has 79 programs ranked among the nation's elite, and the university is ranked 18th nationally among public universities.

A report card published in Technology Review rated the top U.S. universities in their quest for intellectual property, commercial partners and profits. Johns Hopkins University and the University of Maryland (28th) were the Mid-Atlantic (Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, District of Columbia) schools to make the "campus patenting" top 50 list.

Black Issues In Higher Education ranked the university fourth nationally in bachelor's degrees earned by African-American students at traditionally white schools. Maryland ranks first in African-American undergraduate degrees in social sciences and history.

The Wall Street Journal ranked the Robert H. Smith School of Business No. 15 among the world's business schools. Maryland is the top-ranked school in the Mid-Atlantic region (Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia). The Financial Times of London ranked the Robert H. Smith School of Business No. 3 in value for money, No. 6 overall among U.S. public business schools and No. 12 in placement rate.

In the undergraduate program rankings released by U.S. News & World Report both the A. James Clark School of Engineering (No. 22) and the Robert H. Smith School of Business (No. 22) were ranked among the top 25.

Libraries

Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library and White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

Research

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, College Park, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their unique interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.

The university's enviable location — just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis — enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.

Service

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

With more than 90 high-technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

The university opened the Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center in 2001, with its six state-of-the-art performance halls, which has quickly become a center of cultural programming in the Washington metropolitan area. The university also boasts four art galleries and a broad range of public art throughout the beautiful campus. Additionally intercollegiate, club and intramural sports provide students of all levels an opportunity to participate as spectators or athletes.

PRESIDENT C.D. MOTE JR.

In September 1998, C. D. (Dan) Mote, Jr. began his tenure as President of the University of Maryland and Glenn L. Martin Institute Professor of Engineering. He was recruited to lead the University of Maryland to national eminence under a mandate by the state. Since assuming the presidency, he has encouraged an environment of excellence across the University and given new impetus to the momentum generated by a talented faculty and student body. Under his leadership, academic programs have flourished. In 2005, the University was ranked 18th among public research universities, up from 30th in 1998. President Mote has emphasized broad access to the university's model, enriched undergraduate curriculum programs and launched the Baltimore Incentive Awards Program to recruit and provide full support to high school students of outstanding potential who have overcome extraordinary adversity during their lives.

He has spurred the university to lead the state in the development of its high-tech economy, especially in the information and communication, bioscience and biotechnology, and nano-technology sectors. President Mote has greatly expanded the university's partnerships with corporate and federal laboratories and successfully negotiated to bring to the College Park area the first Science Research Park sponsored by the People's Republic of China. Under his leadership, the University has established a research park, The University of Maryland Enterprise Campus, M-Square, located on a 115-acre site adjacent to the University of Maryland/College Park Metro with 3 million square feet of development potential. Among its first tenants are the Center for Advanced Study of Language, a joint venture of the University and Department of Defense, and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's new World Weather and Climate Prediction Center.

During President Mote's second year in office, the University began the largest building boom in its history, with more than $100 million in new projects breaking ground that year. New facilities address every aspect of university life, from the arts to recreation to classrooms and laboratories, and, in creative partnership with the private sector, new residential facilities. Highlights of the construction activity include the stunning Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center; the Comcast Center, a state of the art sports complex; a high tech research greenhouse; and new classrooms for chemistry, computer science, business and engineering. President Mote also led the development of a new Facilities Master Plan for development in the next 20 years, which is noted for its emphasis on environmental stewardship.

Dr. Mote is a leader in the national dialogue on higher education and his analyses of shifting funding models have been featured in local and national media. He has testified on major educational issues before Congress, representing the University and higher education associations on the problem of visa barriers for international students and scholars and on deemed export control issues. He has been asked to serve on a high level National Academies Committee appointed at the request of the Senate Energy Subcommittee of the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee to identify challenges to United States leadership in key areas of science and technology and to be a member of the Leadership Council of the National Innovation Initiative, an activity of the Council on Competitiveness. He has served as vice chair of the Department of Defense Basic Research Committee, and is a member of the Council of the National Academy of Engineering. In 2004-2005, he served as President of the Atlantic Coast Conference. In its last ranking in 2002, "Washington Business Forward" magazine counted him among the top 20 most influential leaders in the region.

Prior to assuming the Presidency at Maryland, Dr. Mote served on the University of California, Berkeley faculty for 31 years. From 1991 to 1998, he was Vice Chancellor at Berkeley, held an endowed chair in Mechanical Systems and was President of the UC Berkeley Foundation. He led a comprehensive capital campaign for Berkeley that raised $1.4 B. He earlier served as chair of Berkeley's Department of Mechanical Engineering and led the department to its number one ranking in the National Research Council review of graduate program effectiveness.

Dr. Mote's research lies in dynamic systems and biomechanics. Internationally recognized for his research on the dynamics of gyroscopic systems and the biomechanics of snow skiing, he has produced more than 300 publications, holds patents in the U.S., Norway, Finland and Sweden, and has mentored 56 Ph.D. students. He received the B.S., M.S. and Ph.D. in mechanical engineering from the University of California, Berkeley. President Mote has received numerous awards and honors, including the Humboldt Prize awarded by the Federal Republic of Germany. DEBORAH A. YOW

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS • 13TH YEAR AT MARYLAND

Deborah A. Yow is in the 13th year of her outstanding tenure as director of athletics at the University of Maryland, a tenure that has seen unprecedented success and achievement in Maryland athletics. Each year has brought steady and continued improvement and accomplishment in Terrapin athletics. In Yow's 12 years at Maryland, the Terrapins have won a remarkable 13 national championships and graduated student-athletes at an enviable rate as Maryland athletics has soared to sustained new heights among the nation's elite intercollegiate athletic programs.

The comprehensive success of Terrapin athletics under Debbie Yow's leadership is a clear and compelling testimony of her values of excellence, teamwork and accountability.

Likewise, her prior election to the presidency of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics is an indication of the wide respect with which she is regarded among its 6,100 members representing 1,600 colleges and universities in the U.S. and Canada.

She was honored recently by Street and Smith's Sports Business Journal as one of the 20 most influential people in intercollegiate athletics and she has received the Carl Maddox Sport Management Award presented by the United States Sports Academy for excellence in athletics administration.

Dr. Yow was selected to serve on the U.S. Department of Education's Commission on Opportunities in Athletics to review the status of Federal Title IX regulations. She recently served as the chair of the Atlantic Coast Conference Committee on Television. The committee is charged with overseeing the league's TV contracts and dealing with issues related to television. Yow led the committee during the successful renegotiation of comprehensive, multi-year ACC football and basketball contracts with ABC, ESPN, ESPN2 and syndication entities.

Additionally, she has represented intercollegiate athletics with presentations in a number of prominent settings such as the Harvard University School of Law conference on "Shaping the Future of Collegiate Athletics" and the Street and Smith's Sports Business Journal "National Forum on the Direction of Intercollegiate Athletics" in New York. She was also recently inducted into the State of Maryland Women's Hall of Fame and the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame, joining fellow Terp Buck Williams as honorees.

Yow, who has served on the NCAA Management Council and the NCAA Division I Budget Committee, is a strong and steady voice on behalf of intercollegiate athletics in America.

Since taking over as AD at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsive, goal-oriented organization with 27 sports and more than 700 student-athletes.
- Balanced all 12 of the department's annual budgets (none of the budgets were balanced in the 10 years prior to her arrival). The budget has now reached $52 million annually and the multi-million dollar accumulated operating debt which her administration inherited has been eradicated.
- Greatly enhanced the academic support services provided for student-athletes, with an enviable exhausted eligibility graduation rate of approximately 85 percent for student athletes at Maryland.
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 7 percent of all NCAA Division I institutions.
- Significantly expanded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased over 350 percent and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by over 300 percent during her tenure at Maryland.
- Continued to dramatically improve venues and facilities for the department's 27 teams. The Comcast Center for men's and women's basketball and other sports that use the facility is a prime example of the dramatic upgrade of athletic facilities.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fund-raising applications.

IN DECEMBER OF 2004, DEBORAH A. YOW WAS NAMED ONE OF THE MOST INFLUENTIAL PEOPLE IN COLLEGE ATHLETICS BY STREET & SMITH'S SPORTS BUSINESS JOURNAL.

Yow congratulates one of the members of the Maryland Competitive Cheer team that won the 2006 NCA Division I National Championship.

- Significantly improved customer care in every area of Maryland athletics.

The most recent achievements of Maryland athletics are exceptional:

- Maryland captured a remarkable four national championships during the 2005-06 academic season.
- In 2005-2006, the Terrapins achieved the highest student-athlete graduation rate in the history of Maryland athletics.
- Maryland was selected by U.S. News & World Report as one of the Top 20 athletic programs in the nation (for overall quality and competitive excellence).
- In 2005-06, Maryland Athletics won the inaugural PRISM Award as the most well-managed Division I collegiate athletics program in the nation.
- In men's basketball, the Terps won the Atlantic Coast Conference title over Duke in the championship game in 2004 and won the NCAA National Championship in 2002. Under Coach Gary Williams, the men's basketball team appeared in 11 consecutive NCAA Tournaments.
- Maryland was ranked as the sixth-finest athletic program in the nation by the Laboratory for the Study of Intercollegiate Athletics, based on comprehensive criteria such as graduation rates, financial efficiency, equity effectiveness and competitive excellence.

- Women's basketball won the 2006 NCAA National Championship under head coach Brenda Frese, completing an amazing turnaround that saw the program go from a 10-18 record to a National Championship in four seasons.

- In football, the Terps won the 2001 Atlantic Coast Conference championship and played in the 2002 Orange Bowl, followed that with an 11-win season and a 30-3 victory over the University of Tennessee in the Peach Bowl, again followed by a 10-win season and a 41-7 win over West Virginia in the Gator Bowl on New Year's Day 2004. Graduation rates in football are near 80 percent and the program was recently recognized by the American Football Coaches Association for its academic excellence under Coach Ralph Friedgen.

- Additionally, Maryland is one of only two universities in the nation to win National Championships in men's basketball, women's basketball and football. Stanford is the only other NCAA Division I institution to achieve that mark.

- Set an ACC single-game record for women's basketball attendance by drawing 17,243 to a regular-season game at Comcast Center.

- Hired Dave Cottle, the third-winningest active men's lacrosse coach in the U.S., who guided his team to the NCAA Final Four three times in the past four seasons.

- Field Hockey earned a National Championship in 2005-06 and has become a perennial participant in the Final Four in that sport.

- Women's Lacrosse has continued its winning ways with seven national championships from 1995-2001, with additional Final Four appearances.

- Men's Soccer has appeared in four consecutive Final Fours and won the NCAA National Championship in the 2005-06 season.

Dr. Yow with Boomer Esiason (left), Bonnie Bernstein (center) and Steve Francis (right).

- Football facilities have been significantly enhanced with team house, stadium and practice field upgrades. The Academic Center was the first improvement, as it took priority over all other initiatives.
- The Terrapins have moved into the new $125 million Comcast Center, housing athletic department offices and seating for 18,000 fans for basketball and other events.
- In 2005-06, 13 Maryland teams competed in postseason play.
- The productivity, morale, and the competitive and academic achievement of Terrapin athletics are exceptional and continue to gain momentum.

Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past 12 years, Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied... our vision is to be one of the Top 5 programs in the nation consistently... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools... to work hard and work smart... to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves."

As a manager and a leader, she clearly models these principles. She is the only known current AD in NCAA Division I who has hired both the National Coach of the Year in football (while at Maryland) and the National Coach of the Year in men's basketball (while at Saint Louis University). In 2002, she brought to the University of Maryland Brenda Frese, who at that time was the National Coach of the Year in women's basketball. Four years later, Frese led the Terrapins to the NCAA National Championship at the Women's Final Four in Boston.

Dr. Yow is known as "a coach's AD," while also being highly organized and a strategic and proactive leader and administrator. Quite simply, Debbie Yow personifies the relational and management dynamics that are necessary to be an excellent administrator.

A successful former basketball coach at the University of Kentucky and University of Florida, she moved into athletics administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, followed by a successful tenure as AD at Saint Louis University from 1990 through 1994.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics management and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Summing up the entire Maryland athletics program, our athletics director recently stated, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets, our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarships, and the M Club members who serve and give liberally. We are also blessed with a terrific President, Dr. Dan Mote, who has fostered a mindset of excellence across our institution. He is a strong and balanced advocate for what he calls 'the three A's of the University -- Academics, the Arts and Athletics'. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our success... and the basis for our bright future. It's a great time to be a Terp."

ACADEMIC SUPPORT & CAREER DEVELOPMENT

The University of Maryland is committed to providing the highest quality education to all of its students. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to provide student-athletes excellent opportunities to participate in an intercollegiate athletics program of the highest quality, with the result that their athletics participation becomes an integral and valued component of their total educational experience at the university.

Terrapin student-athletes will find that the same hard work and discipline that has earned them success in athletics competition is also required in the classroom. Balancing the significant time demands and responsibilities required to be a successful student-athlete at the highest collegiate level is no small task. Therefore, as a result of their commitment to representing the university through athletics, Terrapin student-athletes are able to utilize support programs designed to meet their specific needs.

Led by associate athletics director Anton Goff, the mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit (ASCDU) is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that will enhance academic progress, facilitate career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of all UM student-athletes.

The Gossett Academic Support and Career Development Center for Terrapin student-athletes, named for long-time Terp supporters Barry and Mary Gossett, is located in the Comcast Center. It features a study center that includes 25 desktop computers, a tutoring center, a classroom, a CHAMPS/Life Skills resource room and individual offices for six professional academic counselors, a director of enrichment programs, an assistant program coordinator and two graduate assistants. In addition, a new academic wing was added to the Gossett football team house last Fall. It features offices for two counselors, a program assistant and the learning specialist, as well as a quiet study area, 29-desk computer lab, classroom, tutor rooms and classroom/lab for the individualized learning program.

Academic courses, programs and services offered by ASCDU include the following:

- Student-athlete orientation
- Academic counseling
- NCAA academic eligibility monitoring
- Academic enrichment and career development presentations and workshops
- Accredited tutorial support
- Individualized learning program
- EDCP 108-K (College learning strategies and skills)
- EDCP 108-M (Math learning strategies and skills)
- UNIV 100 (First-year transitions to the university)

MARYLAND GAMEPLAN

The Maryland Gameplan is intended to assist graduating Terrapin student-athletes as they begin the job search process. It is distributed to more than 500 corporations and businesses across the country, in addition to being featured on the M Club website. Prospective employers are introduced to our graduating student-athletes with resume information relative to academic, career and personal achievements. The Maryland Gameplan directory is produced annually in collaboration with the M Club.

CAREER NETWORKING NIGHT

Because career development is an ongoing process, ASCDU provides a variety of programs for student-athletes throughout the year. Professional assistance with resume-writing, interviewing skills, graduate school search and job search is readily available to all student-athletes. During the spring semester ASCDU hosts the Career Networking Night, where student-athletes can learn about career interests and career planning. Unlike typical "job fairs," the purpose of this program is to allow student-athletes to explore multiple career opportunities by speaking directly to individuals in their chosen areas of interest. Employers at the Career Networking Night recognize the marketable qualities student-athletes have gained through athletic participation. Student-athletes learn about opportunities for internships and full-time jobs.

STUDENT-ATHLETE ADVISORY COUNCIL

The Student-Athlete Advisory Council (S.A.A.C.) plays an important role in the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It consists of two representatives from each varsity sport and meets on a regular basis with representatives from the athletic administration. The S.A.A.C. mission is to enhance the total student-athlete experience by developing leadership skills, promoting student-athlete welfare and fostering a positive student-athlete image on the Maryland campus, local area and nationally.

CHAMPS/LIFE SKILLS PROGRAMS

ASCDU houses the NCAA's (National Collegiate Athletic Association) Challenging Athletes' Minds for Personal Success (C.H.A.M.P.S.) Life Skills Program. The ASCDU staff, in collaboration with various other Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' units and campus resources, strives to provide a systematic personal development program designed to reach each student-athlete based on his or her individual needs. The focus of the program is on the individual academically, athletically and emotionally, and on the changing needs and skills of that individual in the years during college and after graduation. The menu of presentations, workshops and seminars is a comprehensive and balanced system of "life learning" programs promoted for use by each varsity sport team.

Highlights of the CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs:

- Support efforts of every student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation
- Use athletics as preparation for success in life
- Meet the changing needs of student-athletes
- Promote respect for diversity among student-athletes
- Enhance interpersonal relationships in the lives of student-athletes
- Assist student-athletes in building positive self-esteem
- Enable student-athletes to make meaningful contributions to their communities
- Promote ownership by the student-athletes of their academic, athletic, personal and social responsibilities
- Enhance partnerships between the NCAA, member institutions and their communities for the purpose of education
- Encourage the development of leadership skills

ACADEMIC SUPPORT FOR RETURNING ATHLETES PROGRAM

The Academic Support for Returning Athletes Program was created in 1986 to support the academic efforts of former varsity student-athletes at the University of Maryland, College Park. In 1989, ASRAP was assigned by the President's Office to the Academic Achievements Program and enrolled 40 students that year. As a member of the National Consortium for Academics and Sports (NCAS), the University of Maryland is committed to assisting its former athletes with degree completion. A key component of the program is community outreach. Each returning student completes a "workshop" that allows the cost of tuition and fees to be exchanged for community services with youth. In 2002, ASRAP moved into the ASCDU.

STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

In today's highly competitive world of collegiate football, the off-field preparation of the student-athlete is a critical component to the on-field success of any Division I program. Dwight Galt, Maryland's director of strength and conditioning, believes strongly that a solid off-field training program can dramatically improve levels of performance, as well as significantly reduce the chance of injury. The benefit of performing structured strength and power training throughout the entire year has allowed the Terps to reach new levels in physical development.

At the University of Maryland, the maximal development of athleticism is the primary goal of the strength and conditioning program. To accomplish this requires more than just strength and power training in the weight room. Speed improvement, agility, flexibility, conditioning, plyometrics and nutrition also play critical roles. The Terps' strength staff places substantial emphasis on all these areas, with special attention to the improvement of speed potential. Galt and his staff employ a wide range of state-of-the-art training methods to assist in enhancing all aspects of speed development.

The Terrapins are fortunate to train in one of the premier weight training facilities in the country. Conveniently located in the Gossett Football Team House, this facility has excellent aesthetic appeal, with two magnificent skylights and large windows overlooking the playing field at Byrd Stadium. The Terps' spacious weight room includes 7,200 square feet of functional floor space, with two elevated offices that are easily accessible to the training floor.

Maryland football players train with some of the best equipment available, including 20,000 pounds of customized York free weights, seven pieces of Keiser progressive air resistance machines, and a full line of Hammer strength equipment. The weight complex also features immense, self-contained power rack stations, Olympic lifting platforms with Eleiko bumper plates and 10 upper body pressing stations.

A meaningful goal of every Terrapin football player is achievement of the prestigious "Iron Terp" award, which is recognized twice a year to those team members who achieve extremely challenging strength goals, based on body weight. It is a great honor and matter of pride to earn an "Iron Terp" award, and the Terps must "pay the toll" to accomplish this.

SPORTS MEDICINE

The University of Maryland Department of Intercollegiate Athletics and the University of Maryland Medical Center's Sports Medicine program have joined forces to provide the best possible medical attention and care to all Terrapin student-athletes.

Says Deborah A. Yow, Maryland's director of athletics: "When we recruit student-athletes to play for Maryland, we owe them the best education, the best coaching and the best comprehensive health care. It is especially gratifying for us to partner with our medical center in the same fashion as other ACC institutions do with their medical schools."

DARRYL CONWAY

From 1993 to 1996, Conway was an assistant trainer with the NFL's New York Jets.

Conway earned a bachelor's degree in physical education studies, magna cum laude, from the University of Delaware in 1993, before receiving a master's degree in physical education and a certificate in sports management from Adelphi University two years later.

Conway has taught numerous collegiate courses related to athletic training, has made numerous presentations and has co-authored several scholarly publications and book chapters. He has been a member of the National Athletic Trainers' Association (NATA) since 1989, and is also a member of the United States Weightlifting Federation.

BYRD STADIUM EXPANSION APPROVED

A proposal to borrow funds to expand Byrd Stadium was approved by the University System of Maryland Board of Regents at its June meeting. The initial phase of Byrd Stadium expansion will add approximately 50 suites, mezzanine seats, a large area to host guests of the University President, work areas for media, work areas for coaches and game day staff, and enhanced seating for disabled customers. Other planned improvements including field level enhancements, which would also dramatically improve seating views in the first ten rows, adding chairbacks to select areas, and additional grandstand capacity.

The next steps in the process are to hire an architect and locate a sponsor to name the field. Work on both items is progressing.

MAJOR GIFTS FUNDRAISING

The University of Maryland is about to launch its largest fund-raising campaign ever in our quest to be one of the top public research universities in the nation. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics will have a challenging, major goal for private donations to the campaign. We are seeking gifts to improve our athletic facilities and endow scholarships for student-athletes to a level that matches the university's great expectations for the future.

During this new campaign, the Athletics Major Gifts staff will raise money for capital improvements to our football facilities, Varsity Team House, Ludwig Field, Shipley Field and others that will benefit our entire athletics program. Major gifts for facility renovation and scholarship endowment are an opportunity to have your name permanently and prominently linked with the tradition of Maryland Athletics. Many exciting naming opportunities for athletic facilities (such as Field Hockey/Women's Lacrosse Stadium and the Softball Stadium) are available in recognition of major gifts.

To obtain information on facility naming opportunities or endowments for student-athlete scholarships, please contact the Athletics Major Gifts Office at (301) 314-7020, or toll-free at 800-653-7667, or by e-mail at terrapinclub@umd.edu.

THE M CLUB

An 83-Year Tradition of "Athletes Helping Athletes"™

The M Club was founded in 1923 by a group of former University of Maryland athletes led by Dr. H.C. "Curley" Byrd to encourage excellence in athletics. It is one of the oldest and most respected letterwinner clubs in the country with an organization of more than 4,500 former Maryland varsity athletes and a leader in the National Letter Winners Association.

The M Club goals are to help achieve the very best overall academic and athletic program for all the varsity teams, to aid the athletes in making positive contributions to the community, to obtain and maintain funds for awards and scholarships and to cultivate networking, social contact and good sportsmanship among the wearers of the "M."

Membership participation, through the payment of annual dues, helps build the scholarship endowment fund, support student-athletes' awards and recognition efforts and provide for career development initiatives. Members receive information about the current teams and news about former teammates through a monthly electronic newsletter and a quarterly printed newsletter.

In addition, active members receive information about, and discounts for, various M Club activities. Many benefits are intangible, though, including the satisfaction of having lettered at a great university and being a part of a unique and exclusive organization that is nationally recognized.

University of Maryland letterwinners interested in the M Club should call David Diehl at (301) 314-5372 or Dotti Warren at (301) 314-7020, or visit our website at www.themclub.org

Remember the M Club, "Athletes Helping Athletes."

TERPS ON THE RADIO

All of Maryland's games will be broadcast live on the Terrapin Sports Radio Network, which boasts one of the strongest coverage areas in college sports. Terrapin Sports Marketing, a division of Viacom Sports, manages the Terrapin Sports Radio Network. In its fourth year as the multi-media marketing rights partner for University of Maryland Athletics, Terrapin Sports Marketing has built a stronger network that provides coverage in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey, and Washington DC.

Live 105.7 FM (WHFS) and ESPN Radio 1300 AM (WJFK-AM) in Baltimore serve as network's flagship stations, with many more affiliates across the state picking up the games.

Maryland's broadcasts will be accessible on the Internet via the Terps official athletics website, www.umterps.com.

JOHNNY HOLLIDAY

Play-by-Play Announcer 28th Year

Johnny Holliday, now in his 28th year as "Voice of the Terps," is considered one of the finest play-by-play announcers in the country. In addition to calling the action for the Maryland football and basketball teams, Holliday hosts the Ralph Friedgen and Gary Williams television shows. As the Terps' director of broadcasting, he also handles a myriad of speaking duties within the athletics department, ranging from banquets to golf outings.

Holliday has broadcast more than 1,000 Maryland football and basketball games in his 27 years with the Terps, including nine football bowl games, 10 Sweet 16 basketball contests, two Final Fours and the 2002 Men's Basketball National Championship triumph over Indiana.

In addition to his work with Maryland, Holliday is also in his 25th year with ABC Sports, where he can be heard nationwide weekday mornings on ABC Radio, as well as XM and Sirius Satellite Radio. His long list of credits includes ABC's coverage of the 2000 and 1996 Summer Olympics and the Winter and Summer Olympics in 1984, 1988 and 1994. In addition, he has covered championship boxing, The Masters, and the Liberty and Aloha bowls.

In October 2003, Holliday was inducted into the Radio-Television Broadcasters Hall of Fame.

Holliday's announcing career allows him to lay claim as Washington's most versatile broadcaster, and among the best nationally. Whether it be in radio, where he was named America's No. 1 disc jockey during his rock 'n roll deejay days, to his public address duties with the Cleveland Browns, Oakland Raiders, and Golden State Warriors, to his work in Washington television for the Senators and Bullets, Holliday makes a complicated business look easy.

He brings that ease to the Maryland coaches' television shows on Comcast SportsNet. Holliday is among the pioneer broadcasters for the sport of women's basketball, earning a Distinguished Service Award from ACC women's basketball officials for his work on that league's women's basketball telecasts. Additionally, Holliday was named one of the nation's top 15 radio announcers for college basketball by ESPN's Dick Vitale and earned the 2005 Lindsey Nelson Outstanding Sportscaster Award from the American Football Foundation. In 2006, he was also presented the Chris Schenkle Award from the National Football Foundation.

In addition to his broadcasting accomplishments, Holliday is just as proud of the charitable work he has done in the community.

In May of 2006, Holliday was presented the James Cardinal Hickey National Figure Award by the Office of the Youth Ministry/Catholic Youth Organization (OYM/CYO) and he was one of five men honored in June of 2006 as "Father of the Year" by the Father's Day Council of Washington, D.C. and the American Diabetes Association (ADA).

Holliday is the proud father of three: Dr. Kellie Smaldore, an internal medicine physician in Bel Air, Md.; Tracie Rolle, a NICU nurse at Shady Grove Hospital in Rockville, Md.; and Moira McCarthy, a stay-at-home mother in Jacksonville, Fla.

JONATHAN CLAIBORNE

Color Commentary Seventh Year

Former Terrapin standout Jonathan Claiborne is in his seventh season as the color analyst on Maryland's radio broadcast team. Claiborne, who lettered from 1975-

77 as a safety, is the son of former Terp head coach Jerry Claiborne, who was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame in 1999 after a 28-year career as head coach at Virginia Tech, Maryland and Kentucky.

Originally a walk-on at Maryland in the mid-70s, Jonathan Claiborne eventually worked his way into a first-string safety position and earned a scholarship. He was a two-year starter and played on three bowl teams. The Terps were 28-7-1 during his varsity playing career.

Claiborne, who is now a practicing attorney in the Baltimore area for the firm Whiteford, Taylor and Preston, excelled on and off the field while playing with the Terrapins. He was a two-time All-ACC Academic selection and a 1977 CoSIDA Academic All-American. He also was the recipient of a NCAA Post-graduate Scholarship in addition to earning a fellowship from the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame. Claiborne earned a double degree at Maryland (history and accounting) with a cumulative GPA of 3.57. He was a two-time winner of the George C. Cook Award (given to the Terp varsity football player with the highest grade point average) and also won the Talbot T. Speer Award for leadership, scholarship and athletic ability.

Claiborne previously spent four years as a color analyst on Towson Tiger football radio broadcasts.

TIM STRACHAN

Sideline Reporter 11th Year

Former DeMatha standout Tim Strachan is in his 11th season as the sideline reporter on Maryland's football broadcasts. Strachan, a 1999 graduate of the University of Maryland with a degree in communication, was a student assistant coach with the Terps from 1996-99. He graduated from Georgetown University Law Center in the spring of 2004.

Strachan, who was paralyzed in a swimming accident before his senior year of high school, launched T13 Chanties — A Foundation for Spinal Cord Injuries as a way to benefit others with spinal cord injuries. He is a professional motivational speaker and also is a freelance reporter for the Ralph Friedgen and Gary Williams coaches' television shows. He was named the 1999 Washingtonian of the Year by Washingtonian magazine.

CREDENTIALS

Credentials and working space for media members are issued at the sole and exclusive discretion of the University of Maryland Athletics Media Relations Office. Issuance of credentials may be based on the following priorities and guidelines:

1. Originating radio and television personnel involved in a live broadcast.
2. Daily newspapers regularly covering the University of Maryland, the current-game opponent or another Atlantic Coast Conference school. Wire services, regional and national publications are also afforded this priority.
3. Non-originating radio and television personnel producing reports on the game. Only local radio stations with a full-time sports director conducting a regular sports show receive consideration for credentials.
4. Officially recognized University of Maryland daily student publications or student electronic media outlets with daily sports reports.
5. Non-daily newspapers or publications reporting on the game.

OTHER GUIDELINES

- Season media credentials are issued to those outlets which cover Maryland Athletics on a regular basis. They do not guarantee working space in media work areas.
- With the exception of Terrapin beat reporters covering the team on a daily basis and producing daily reports, all passes are approved and issued on a game-by-game basis.
- Passes are non-transferable and are subject to immediate revocation if transferred to non-working members of a media outlet.
- Due to limited space and to ensure compliance with NCAA guidelines, no credentials will be issued to "free-lance" writers or photographers without a specific assignment received in writing by the assigning organization.
- The University of Maryland and the NCAA prohibit the issuance of credentials to representatives of an organization that regularly publishes gambling information, such as "tout sheets" or "tip sheets."
- Credentials are issued to web sites that are affiliated with national or regional media organizations, e.g. USA Today.com, ESPN.com, CBS SportsLine, etc., for web sites of Atlantic Coast Conference schools or non-conference opponents, or for the Atlantic Coast Conference office.

- Web sites that sponsor "message boards" or "chat rooms" where people are allowed to post anonymous information or rumors are ineligible for credentials or access to media functions. If a news-gathering medium has an online site that sponsors these anonymous forums, they may continue to request credentials under their traditional medium (newspaper, magazine, radio or television), but will not be granted additional passes or access for online staff.
- All persons picking up credentials will be required to furnish positive identification. All credentials are non-transferable, and no credentials will be issued to those under the age of 18.

CREDENTIAL REQUESTS

Credential requests must be made by sports editors or sports directors on official letterhead no later than five days prior to an event. They should be sent to the attention of Ann Cabiness, Athletic Media Relations Office, University of Maryland, 2725 Comcast Center, College Park, MD 20741-0295. They may also be faxed to 301-314-9094. No credential requests will be accepted via e-mail or by phone.

Admission to media facilities are for working media only.

E-MAIL SERVICE

Football releases can be obtained electronically by contacting Greg Creese at gcreese@umd.edu. List TERP NEWS in the subject heading, and include the name of your media outlet and phone number in your message. (This is a media service only).

INTERNET GUIDELINES

The acceptance of media credentials is an acknowledgement of the University of Maryland's rights to the game and play-by-play coverage and an outlet's agreement to abide by any restrictions the University of Maryland may place on real-time play-by-play coverage and use of comprehensive game statistics. Failure to abide by these restrictions implemented by the University of Maryland may result in revocation of press credentials. Maryland reserves the right to grant approval for distribution of real time play-by-play, game-related statistics and information through the Internet ("real time" is defined as any online media providing live continual play-by-play coverage, in-game statistics, digital photographs, or audio or video of an event).

PARKING

Game-day press parking is located in the Union Lane Garage which is adjacent to Cole Field House and along Field House Drive. The parking garage is best accessed from the Stadium Drive entrance to campus. Access is via pass only and is available on a limited basis.

PHOTOGRAPHY REGULATIONS

Photo passes will be issued only to accredited photographers on assignment. Photographers should obtain an armband from the media-relations assistant on the field below Section 28 to gain admittance to the field. Under NCAA and ACC rules, photographers are not allowed between the 25-yard lines and must remain outside of the restraining lines surrounding the playing field.

Photographers are expected to comply with all University regulations and policies. Any photographer or any media member not complying with instructions of University staff may be required to surrender their credentials.

PLAYER INTERVIEWS

All player interviews must be arranged through Greg Creese or the Terps' assistant football contact. Players and coaches have been instructed not to participate in interviews unless they have been arranged through the Media Relations Office. Interviews will be conducted Tuesday through the start of practice on Thursday. No interviews will be allowed on Sunday or Friday. Player phone numbers will not be released, and members of the media are asked not to attempt to contact student-athletes or relatives on the telephone or via e-mail. Players are not available for live call-in radio shows.

POSTGAME INTERVIEWS

Head coach Ralph Friedgen and selected players will be brought to the Gossett Team House Dining Facility on the main floor of the Gossett Football Team House for postgame interviews following home games. The team room is accessed through the front door of the complex, located one level above the playing field. Interviews with the visiting team coach and players will be coordinated by the opponent SID staff and specifics announced in the press box on game day. The interview area for the opposing coach is in the weight room of the Varsity Team House, located outside the stadium on the opposite side of the field from the Tysler Tower Press Box (unless otherwise stated). The Terps follow similar guidelines for coach and player interviews for road games.

Maryland's locker room is closed following games.

PRACTICE COVERAGE

Only the first five periods (approx. 30 minutes) of practice are open. Media wishing to attend practice should contact the Media Relations Office in advance. All members of the media are asked to view practice from the sloped portion of the field (along Stadium Drive). Once the team goes into pads in the fall, TV B-roll and still photographers will be allowed to shoot warm-ups, stretching drills and the first four periods of practice. Team meetings before, during and after practice are private. Practices generally begin at 3:45 p.m. and conclude at 6 p.m. The team does not practice on Sunday during the season with the exception of the weeks on Thursday night games.

RALPH FRIEDGEN INTERVIEWS

Coach Friedgen will be available to the media at his weekly Tuesday media luncheons, which begin at 1 p.m. in the Gossett Team House Dining Facility. Friedgen will also be available on the weekly ACC Teleconference held each Wednesday at 11:30 a.m. ET.
